Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey for Coughs and Colds

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

Says Rheumatism Leaves You Forever

James H. Allen, of Congress avenue, Rochester, N. Y., once a rheumatic cripple, who discovered ALLENRHU and with it banished every trace of uric acid and every spot of rheumatism from his body, says that every druggist guarantees a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU to show the way to complete recovery or money back.

It relieves at once and immediately after you start to take ALLENRHU the good work begins. It banishes uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives the stored poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels. Even in cases where suffering has been severe and painful all traces of this dread disease disappear in a few days. Chas. Schmidt & Company tell you.—Adv.

FIRE MARSHAL STANDING PAT

On Inspecting School Houses on Own Volition.

JUSTIFIES IT AS RESULT OF EXPERIENCE

Says Findings Are Often Pigeonholed by School Boards—He Seeks Safety for Children.

Columbus, March 16.—"I felt that publicity, carried direct to the parents of thousands of school children, is the most effective way to remedy conditions," declared State Fire Marshal Dykeman yesterday replying to boards of education throughout Ohio which condemned his policy of inspecting school houses without notifying board members in advance.

"I can justify my course as a result of past experiences of the state fire marshal's office," continued Marshal Dykeman.

Often Pigeon-Holed.

"It too often has happened that we have given the result of our findings to school boards only to have them pigeon-hole these findings and continue in their old course of carelessness.

"I inspected no school, however, until after I had made my presence at the school known to the principal or the custodian. In most cases, one or the other accompanied me on my inspection.

"My findings are not disputed. School authorities must admit that the ending that I have sought—greater safety for school children—is absolutely right."

NEGRO SLAYER BLAMES STATE POLITICIANS

Goes to Chair Protesting His Innocence.

Nashville, Tenn., March 16. — Maurice Mays, a negro, went to death in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here yesterday declaring that he was "dying to satisfy a few Republican politicians."

He was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Birdie Lindsay, of Knoxville, in 1919.

"I am innocent as the sun that shines," the negro said as the straps of the chair were adjusted about his body.

"I am dying to satisfy a few Republican politicians. I hope they are satisfied. Governor Taylor has been told he would lose 50,000 votes if he interceded for me—" but here the electric current ended his statement and his life.

Alice Brady a Mother.

New York, March 16.—Birth of a son to Alice Brady, actress and daughter of William A. Brady, became known with the filing of a certificate in the bureau of vital statistics at Mt. Vernon. Miss Brady was divorced from James Lyons Crane, actor, last January. They were married two years ago.

Arbuckle Jury Completed.

San Francisco, March 16.—Attorneys for the state announced that they accepted the jury as it stood for the third trial of Roscoe Arbuckle, film comedian, on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, film actress. The jury contains three women.

ANOTHER PICTURE SHOWING PITIABLE SCENE OF STARVING PEOPLE OVER IN RUSSIA

Women and children waiting for the feeding at Samara.

Great throngs of hungry men, women and children, facing starvation here are shown waiting for American food at Samara. Thousands of Russians already have died for lack of food. This pitiable scene gives an insight into conditions throughout Russia, which has become the land of funerals. The American Relief administration is doing valiant work in its efforts to furnish food to the great hordes of persons in need of it.

BURGLAR MURDERS TITLED ENGLISHWOMAN

Lady White Found in Home with Skull Fractured.

London, March 16.—Lady White, widow of Sir Edward White, late chairman of the London county council, died yesterday as the result of a burglar attack.

Attaches of a hotel in which Lady White was residing, found her in an unconscious condition Tuesday morning with a portion of her skull crushed in. She regained consciousness for a few moments, and told how a burglar who had entered her room through a window, had attacked her with an instrument—evidently a blackjack.

Knight to Run For Governor.

Washington, March 16.—Representative Charles L. Knight of Akron said that he felt "more than ever like being a candidate for governor of Ohio." He is firmly convinced that next Saturday Governor Davis will take himself out of the running by a public announcement.

Vatican Extends Time.

Rome, March 16.—Official announcement was made from the vatican that Pope Pius had extended to 15 days the interval to elapse between the death of a pope and the session of the sacred college to select his successor.

SALE OF STEAMER ALLEGED ILLEGAL

Chairman Lasker Criticised for Columbia Transaction.

Washington, March 16.—Alleged irregularities in the recent sale by the shipping board of the steamer, Columbia, formerly the transport, Great Northern, were charged yesterday before the house naval affairs committee leading to a statement by Secretary of the Navy Denby that the sale was "perhaps illegal."

Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board, was criticized during the hearing and President Harding was assailed for ordering the vessel transferred from the navy to the shipping board with congressional sanction.

Decrease in Income Tax Receipts.

Washington, March 16.—Treasury officials expect the government's receipts of income and profits taxes to show a decrease of more than $200,000,000 from the collections made during March of last year. While the shrinkage in business and profits during the calendar year 1921, Secretary Mellon said, makes the figure somewhat uncertain, officials estimate that the first installment of taxes on incomes and profits for the year will amount to $460,000,000, as compared with $727,000,000 received from the first installment on the 1920 taxes.

NO LIVES LOST IN RENO HOTEL FIRE

Temporary Home of the Divorce Colony Burned.

Reno, Nevada, March 16.—Following a check of the guest list, it was stated by fire marshal that no lives were lost when flames early yesterday destroyed the Riverside hotel, a four story brick structure, temporary home of many of Reno's fashionable divorce colony.

The fire was under control at 10 a. m. today although still burning.

Guests, who fled scantily attired to the street, lost all their belongings.

First estimates of the damages was placed at $100,000.

Begin War on "Dead Beats."

Cincinnati, March 16.—"Get out of Cincinnati and stay out," was the ultimatum served today by the Cincinnati Retail Merchants' association on all deadbeats, frauds, check raisers and "J. Rufus Wallingfords." The merchants opened their new credit bureau with its card index of more than one hundred names by means of which they hope to cause the undoing of any one who tries to swindle Cincinnati merchants.

Moore Would Be Evangelist.

Indianapolis, March 16.—Isaiah Moore, indicted by the grand jury here on charges of bigamy, grand larceny and embezzlement, wishes to become an evangelist when he has completed his term in prison, if he is convicted, he said. Moore is said to have confessed to having 12 wives. "I have always wished to enter the ministry, and when I am released from prison I hope to become an evangelist," Moore said shortly before he was indicted by the grand jury.

Rebels Capitulate.

Johannesburg, March 16.—Government troops have captured Fordsburg, the last rebel stronghold, it was officially announced. After an intensive bombardment of an hour and a quarter, the insurrectionists capitulated and troops entered the town, taking hundreds of prisoners. The fall of Fordsburg marks the end of the rebellion, brought about by the gold miners' three month's strike.

COMPROMISE SEEN IN BUILDING STRIKE

Big Building Program Waits on Outcome.

Cleveland, March 16.—With both sides apparently standing firm, employers asking wage cuts ranging from thirteen to thirty-five per cent, and workers insisting upon the 1921 scale or an increase—men closely in touch with both sides indicated that a compromise was near in the tieup which has been in effect between the building trades council and Cleveland contractors since March 1.

A building program of more than $40,000,000, it is estimated, waits on the outcome of present negotiations. Several large structures, including the new Union Trust building, will not be built this year, unless building costs approach normal, it was said, but lowered prices of materials and abolition of some of the "restrictive" rules imposed by the unions are believed to promise greatly lowered costs.

HOUSE BODY ASKED TO HOLD UP ACTION

On Conversion of Cruisers into Aeroplane Carriers.

Washington, March 16. — The house naval affairs committee was asked yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Denby to hold up action looking to the conversion of two cruisers into aeroplane carriers until the senate had disposed of the armament conference treaties.

While Denby expressed the opinion that all of the treaties would be ratified, he asked the committee to "consider the possible failure" of the naval limitation pact and said that it would be "wise to hold up the legislation until the senate acted."

FASHION EDICTS IN HATS FROM LONDON

For the ladies European designers have created these newest fashions in hats. The top one is a new London model in pleat straw, strikingly trimmed with a bow of navy moire ribbon. The lower hat, worn by Marie Novello, famed English pianist, now in New York, is a Parisian pale gray, elaborately embroidered with pale tinted sea shells. A bag of iridescent sequins embroidered in shells goes with the ensemble.

KIWANIS INTER-CITY MEET HERE TONIGHT

Seven Out-of-Town Clubs Will Be Represented.

VISITORS ARE EXPECTED TO TOTAL ABOUT 400

Present and Former District Governors To Speak—Banquet To Open Program.

Kiwanians from seven out-of-town clubs are expected to begin arriving about 5 o'clock this afternoon for the inter-city meeting of Sub-District No. 6, of Ohio. Marion Kiwanians are to be the hosts and have set the stage for one of the most elaborate functions in the history of Marion organization. A dinner at 6:30 o'clock will open the program at Schwinger's hall.

An elaborate program has been arranged and no stone has been left unturned to furnish the visitors with a royal entertainment. Delegations from Carey, Crestline, Bucyrus, Delaware, Galion, Mansfield and Upper Sandusky. Special cars are expected from Mansfield, Bucyrus and Delaware. Many of the visiting Kiwanians will make the trip in automobiles. Between 300 and 400 visitors are expected.

District Governor To Speak.

Prominent Kiwanians are scheduled to speak following the banquet at Schwinger's hall. These include Albert H. Miller, of Toledo, past district governor, and Frank C. Poling, of Mansfield, present district governor.

The following history, tracing the development of the Marion Kiwanis club and its accomplishments, was prepared by Grant E. Monsor, Jr., former secretary of the organization.

"During the first part of December, 1920, the Kiwanis club of Delaware invited several men from Marion who had been interested in forming a Kiwanis club in this city, to Delaware for the purpose of receiving enlightment in the things for which Kiwanis stands, and also for the purpose of imbuing them with sufficient pep and enthusiasm to come back to Marion and spread the gospel sufficiently so that others might be interested. The men who attended the Delaware meeting, came back to Marion completely sold upon the idea, and at once started enlisting the aid of others who were interested. To aid them in this work, they enlisted the aid of Kiwanis International, and the international organizaion sent Field Representative Thayer to Marion for the purpose of aiding the 'baker's dozen' already interested. When Mr. Thayer started to explain the ideals and purpose for which Kiwanis international stood and the chance for unselfish service which the organization offered he met with a ready response and in a short time, fifty men had signed application blanks for membership in Kiwanis.

First Meeting December 30, 1920

"The men who had been interested in the organization of a club in Marion were happy in the thought that in the course of two short weeks, they had secured enough members to receive a charter in Kiwanis International, and decided to hold their first meeting on December 30, 1920. To the original charter members and to particularly the original fifty who had signed application blanks for membership in Kiwanis, that evening will always be a memorable one in local Kiwanis history. Delaware, the sponsoring club, sent a special car containing a delegation of fifty members and heading the delegation was United States Senator Frank B. Willis and Judge Benson W. Hough, better known as Colonel Hough of the Rainbow division. Columbus sent twenty-five and Toledo sent Albert H. Miller, then governor of the Ohio Kiwanis district. We then realized that the spirit of Kiwanis was very much worth while, when busy men would leave their business in order to aid a new club in getting on its feet. At 7:30 o'clock the Kiwanians met around the festive board in the main dining hall of the Busy Bee cafeteria. Governor Albert H. Miller presided as toastmaster, and the Kiwanians listened to fine addresses from Senator Frank B. Willis and Colonel Benson W. Hough. At about 9 o'clock, to the pleasant surprise of the assemblage, President Warren G. Harding, appeared upon the scene, and after accepting membership in the club, he made that now famous, much quoted statement; "If I can have with me in my work as president of the United States of America, the spirit of Kiwanis as shown in this assemblage, I shall have no fear of the morrow."

Due largely to the splendid enthusiasm given to members at this meeting, through the splendid addresses of Senator-Elect Willis, Colonel Hough and President Warren G. Harding, the local club made rapid strides in adding to its membership until at the charter party in the Masonic temple on February 24, 1921, the local club had a membership of 101. A brief sketch of the charter party possibly can best be given by quoting from the article that appeared in the April issue of the Kiwanis magazine:

Notice in Club Magazine.

"It was a wonderful party, not only because it is the club of President Harding, but because of the fine entertainment accorded the visitors by the Marion members. Already past masters at the art of entertaining, due to the fact that they have been at it constantly since President Harding's nomination, they fairly outdid themselves at the charter party. Delegations met each train and traction car and every officer and visitor was treated royally during his stay. Hotel accommodations had been arranged by the club, and there was nothing lacking to make it a wonderful night in every way. Two hundred and fifty Kiwanians and their wives were seated at the banquet table in the Masonic temple. Governor Albert H. Miller presided as the banquet. The charter presentation was made by Brigadier General Benson W. Hough, judge of the supreme court of Ohio. General Hough was called upon to present the charter by Governor Miller in recognition of his assistance in the establishment of the Marion club. He was chairman of the sponsoring committee of the Delaware club, was a colonel in the Rainbow division of the A. E. F. and is now brigadier general of the Ohio National guard. Messages of regret were received during the meeting from President Harding and Senator Willis, both of whom took prominent part in the organization meeting of the club. Senator Willis is a member of the Delaware club. The president declared that although he was unable to be with his club at the charter party, he was there in spirit, and that it was one of his greatest regrets that he was forced to miss many of his home town gatherings. In addition to the talks delivered by Governor Miller and General Hough, Edward F. Arras, present in his capacity as international trustee, gave one of his usual splendid, inspirational addresses. The address of welcome was delivered by T. P. Andrews, mayor of Marion, and acceptance of the charter was made by James W. McMurray, of the Marion club. Marion set a record for hospitality at its charter party."

Dr. J. W. McMurray First President.

"The first president of the local club was Dr. James W. McMurray, and through his splendid qualities of leadership the local club made its mark throughout the Ohio district. When a man was considered for membership, he was viewed from the standpoint of whether or not he would be willing to give unselfishly of his time and effort to the upbuilding of his community and under the broad classification of the local club it has been possible for practically every business man who has indicated a desire to belong to the club to become a member.

"The local club has attempted to bring joy and happiness into homes that were unfortunate. By collecting from each member each week the sum of ten cents, it has been possible to raise approximately $12.00 each week for charitable purposes. Most of this money has been turned over to Mrs. Esther Mack, local health nurse, and has been used by her in purchasing milk for children and bread for those families who were needy and did not have sufficient funds to purchase it. The project has been really worth while because those who have received its benefits have expressed themselves in terms of appreciation as to the work the Kiwanis has been doing. During the past year, Exchange and Rotary have established clubs in Marion, and they are aiding in a large measure in this worthy work.

"The local club has sponsored clubs at Upper Sandusky and Kenton during the past year and both clubs are prospering and have made rapid strides in growth and are doing a splendid work in their respective communities.

"Charles W. McClain was elected president of the local club for this year at the organization meeting December 15, 1921, and of the accomplishments of the local club under the leadership of Charles W. McClain as president and Jay H. Maish as secretary, little need be said, for their work since January 1 speaks for itself. They have set a pace that will be hard to follow for administrations to come, and backed up by the entire club, are working diligently to fulfill the splendid motto of the organization, 'We build unselfishly.'"

CONSTPIATION MADE HEART BAD

Gas In Stomach and Bowels Caused Dangerous Pressure

Here is the story of one man who realized only too well the dangers of stomach and bowel disorder and neglect. For five years as he told one of our representatives he was very nervous and terribly run down due to serious stomach trouble and constipation. Gas formed on his stomach after eating, bloating him greatly and causing pressure in the abdomen that affected his heart so that he suffered greatly from palpitation and intermittent beats. With this he had severe headaches and constant twinges of rheumatism that gave him a great deal of pain. He tried various doctors and socalled remedies without relief. Then he read one of our advertisements and bought a bottle of Nerv-Worth and found immediate relief—before he had taken half the bottle he was better and when telling his story he claimed to be entirely well, in fact in better health than he had enjoyed in many years.

You can get this famous remedy at almost any drug store. It is always on sale at the Schmidt & Co. drug store in this city and every druggist is authorized to give the money back if the first bottle does not show encouraging results. It aids digestion, sweetens the stomach preventing sour fermentation and excess acid, heartburn and dizziness. No more gas bloat. It is fine for delicate women and sickly children because of its mild yet always effective action and pleasant taste.—Adv.

STOMACH SUFFERERS

Why wait another day? If DR. ORTH'S GREAT STOMACH PRESCRIPTION doesn't cure you of indigestion or any stomach trouble, you can get your money back says Bartlett's Drug Store, Chas. Schmidt & Co., Carl Ungericht and all good druggists.

The liberal idea is the right idea nowadays and so knowing the value of Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy we make this liberal offer which no sensible sufferer ought to turn down.

Go to your druggist today and get a 75 cent box of Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy and take it as directed for indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis, belching gas, heaviness or any stomach distress or misery and then if you don't say it is the best stomach remedy you ever tried, take back the empty box and get your money.

Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy not only gives instant relief where stomach agony exists but it builds up the run down stomach and makes it so strong and vigorous that it will digest almost any kind of food without distress.—Adv.

MORE RELIGION ONE OF GREATEST NEEDS

Rabbi Simon Cohen Tells Marion Congregation of Israel.

ATTENDING SERVICES IS SPIRITUAL GYMNASTICS

Speaker Declares Constant Contact with Religious Teachings Is Necessary.

Rabbi Simon Cohen rabbi of Ohev Zedukah temple, Springfield, and vice president of the Jewish Religious Education association of Ohio, addressed the members of the Marion Congregation of Israel at the temple room in the I. O. O. F. temple Wednesday evening.

Rabbi Cohen is a comparatively recent graduate of the Hebrew Union college of Cincinnati. His visit was under the auspices of the department of synagogue and school extension of the Union of American Hebrew congregation in furtherance of a plan established this year whereby a concerted movement is being made during the month of March for all communities throughout the United States which have no resident rabbi, to be visited and addressed by a rabbi from a neighboring city.

The speaker was introduced by George G. Kleinmaier and took for his subject "Meeting Our Responsibilities as Jews." He spoke in part as follows:

World Needs More Religion.

"One of the greatest needs of the world today is more religion. The ideals and influence of religious teachings are absolutely needed to counteract and overcome the wave of crime everywhere prevalent. It is a proven fact that, almost without exception, the criminals in our penal institutions have had either no religious training or practically none.

"Attending religious services is in effect spiritual gymnastics that is, constant exercise only brings the most desired results. One can not take his religion down from the shelf and dust it off and bring it to services on two or three special occasions during the year and then expect it to be ready to help him meet his problems and trials whenever need arises. Constant contact with our religious teachings prepares us and helps us to know where to turn to find the source of spiritual comfort or a spiritual strength, so needed in times of stress.

Meeting Their Quotas.

"One point worth mentioning tonight, while not essentially religious, bears the imprint of a true religious influence. It is the glorious manner in which the Jews of the United States are again with true sacrifice and unselfishness coming unstintedly to the aid of the suffering overseas. Despite the trying year just past, communities everywhere are meeting and surpassing their quotas.

"After all, your religion is worth to you just exactly what you put into it in money and time and energy. And of these, time and energy are the most valuable. The money is largely just to replace them for it every one gave to his religion as much time and energy as full as it could be little money needed to supply the temporal needs.

Before coming to Marion Rabbi Cohen addressed the Jewish communities of Boston and assisted in forming a temporary organization there for a new congregation. While there he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Hess, of 441 Clinton street. He left this morning for his home in Springfield. The local congregation expects to have him return later in the year for an address.

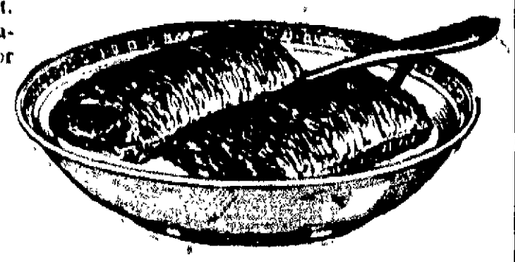
Shredded Wheat

Eat more whole wheat with green vegetables and fruits—that's the secret of youth and strength—but be sure it is the whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is 100 per cent. whole wheat, made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. Two Biscuits make a good, nourishing meal.

For a warm, nourishing meal heat two Biscuits in the oven to restore their crispness; pour hot milk over them, adding a little cream and a dash of salt. Delicious with sliced bananas, prunes, raisins or canned fruits.

TRISCUIT is the Shredded Wheat cracker a real whole wheat toast and is eaten with butter or soft cheese.



AMNESTY TO JAILED WAR OFFENDERS ASKED

Prisoners Declare They Ought To Be Released.

Washington, March 16.—On the plea that the war is over and that not one was convicted directly or indirectly for an overt act against the government, 113 so-called "political" prisoners in jails in this country asked congress today to recommend to President Harding that he pardon those men and grant a general amnesty.

Thomas Albert De Silver, of New York, Otto Christianson, of Chicago, and other witnesses, the 113 who out of nearly 15,000 espionage law violators alone remain incarcerated, declared further imprisonment "is contrary to the democratic idealism and traditions of freedom," of the United States.

Wise is the man who is willing to climb down off his dignity long enough to do his duty.

Importance of Club Column.

It is not the director of press for the Ohio federation that this column is conducted; it is for all of the club women in Ohio, and they should take advantage of it because it is one of the vital departments of the state federation. Importance of this department is stressed editorially in the March number of the General Federation News, and the brief article is reproduced here with a view to building up a newsy Ohio federation column through the aid of all those who can possibly be enlisted. The General Federation News editorial follows

"Are you making your state press and publicity chairman a well-known institution by having her name and address appear prominently on every bit of printing your federation is sending out? Does her name appear as an officer on your state, district and county club letter heads? If not, please dear madam state president, instruct your printing committee never again to send out a piece of printed matter without listing your club 'mouthpiece' Why continue to give publicity to every worker but your publicity worker? Make her name well known to all of your club women and see how much more publicity club work will receive."

The Wesley Revival.

A large number attended the afternoon service yesterday at Wesley M. E church Miss Edna Banning preached from the first epistle of John, 1 7-10

"When God forgives and saves us it is a wonderful experience," Miss Banning said "We usually are so happy and satisfied that we then think we have all there is for us. Later we begin to feel that we are mistaken, that there is something down within our inner lives that will assert itself when we least expect it and trips us Then the devil may try to make us believe that we have been deceived We find it is easy for us to take offense, to become irritable, easily provoked, and that there is something in the life that needs to be taken out If we come to God and confess our sins—not simply our sins, but that there is something within us that often causes us to do and to leave undone what we do want to do, and that takes or causes us to go many places we should not go as Christians and do many things we should not do—He will forgive us and will lift out of our lives the very roots of sin, the inbred sin that has been causing the trouble, and will leave us free to do His bidding and to live the life He wants us to live This is one of the great needs of the church today."

In the evening service Miss Banning preached from Galatians, 6 7 8 She declared "The devil is deceiving multitudes today. All may be deceived sometimes Some may be deceived all the time We are inclined often—the sinner is—to deceive himself But one thing is sure, we can never deceive God He knows all about us We deceive ourselves when we think there is no hell, that God will not permit any one to be forever lost We forget that God has exhausted the resources of heaven to prevent us going to hell—a place prepared not for men, but for the devil and his angels Yet we try to make ourselves believe there is no such place in spite of what God says and go right on living a life that makes it sure we shall spend eternity there We can not mock God The world is trying that. God has declared that in Him we find real joy and real happiness and the world says such is to be found in worldly amusements We deceive ourselves when we think we can get back to God without doing our best to make restitution for the wrongs we have done to others We shall some time find we are mistaken in that, too You must take God at His word He knows and He will judge" Many went forward at both services

LIBRARY BOARD REFUSES TO ACCOUNT TO COUNCIL

Marion County Bank Will Not Change Plans.

POSSIBILITY OF LAW SUIT FACES COUNCIL

Bank Problem Placed with Service Director—Council Takes No Action in Controversy.

Flat refusal to accede to the request that funds derived from rentals and fines be paid into the city treasury was made by John H. Bartram, representing the library board, at an adjourned meeting of council Wednesday evening. A second deadlock was reached when John H. Clark, representing the Marion County bank, indicated that no change in plans for remodelling the front of the building, which it is charged encroaches on the sidewalk, would be made. Council, confronted with the possibility of law suits to settle both points in issue, put the bank problem up to the service director and adopted a policy of watchful waiting relative to the library controversy.

Work on the bank building was suspended on Tuesday on order of the service director, following discovery that approximately fourteen inches of sidewalk belonging to the city will be absorbed at different points of the improvement. The issue between council and the library board involves the question of whether or not rentals and fines constitute public funds. The board at the meeting Wednesday evening stood pat on its decision that they do not constitue public funds and indicated that it would not recede from this position unless compelled to do so by court action.

Necessitate Tearing Out Front.

Attorney Clark appealed for relief, declaring that the old bank building, erected thirty-one years ago, encroached on the sidewalk more than the contemplated improvement. He pointed out that in building a circular front the bank had relinquished to the city a certain portion of its frontage and that in reality the city had the best of the deal. Council refused to take any action and the attorney declared that the bank would not change its plans. "To do so, in order not to encroach on the sidewalk," Attorney Clark declared, "would necessitate tearing out the entire front, including the second story."

The stand of the library board was revealed after lengthy discussion when Attorney Bartram, in answer to a direct question, declared that the board would not turn rentals and fines into the city treasury. "Those revenues are the only means we have of purchasing new fiction," he declared. "They constitute our bread and butter."

Informed by City Solicitor George T. Geran that the attorney-general in 1917 had decided that such funds should be turned over to the city treasury Attorney Bartram replied: "I don't believe the money belongs to the city. The attorney-general has been wrong before and he may be wrong again."

"If city affairs had been conducted one-third as economically as the affairs of the library," Attorney Bartram continued, "there would be no deficiency today. We feel that we are a separate board, charged with separate duties and separate functions. If the library committee of council showed half the interest that we do they would know that the library building is in a deplorable condition. It is a shame and a disgrace to the city of Marion."

Don't Care for Examiners.

"I don't give the snap of my finger for the bureau of accounting," Attorney Bartram declared in response to the statement that state examiners had held that library rentals and fines should be turned over to the city. "It is the same department that comes here year after year and lets thefts go on in cities and counties without discovering the loss of a single penny."

"The only way to get this matter settled is through a court decision," City Solicitor Geran declared. Replying to the statement of Miss Louise Cunningham, president of the library board, that she had consulted several attorneys and had been unable to find any statute upholding council, Mr. Geran pointed out that this was due solely to the fact that the decision of the attorney-general never had been questioned. "The state inspector informs me this library board is the only one in the state that has ever adopted such an attitude," Councilman Orr stated.

Sign Report.

Signatures of Miss Cunningham, as president of the board, and Carroll May as secretary, were affixed to the unsigned report, submitted at the meeting of council Monday night. Miss Cunningham declared the report was the annual report of the librarian and that it was not signed through oversight. The representatives of the library board, who included Attorney Bartram, Miss Cunningham, Mr. May and Dr. A. Rhu, indicated willingness to submit any sort of a report requested by council.

With the principal point at issue, the question of turning revenues into the city treasury, unsettled and deadlocked the discussion ended. Mr. Geran's recommendation that the controversy be allowed to stand pending expected action on the part of the state examiner was adopted. Mr. Geran stated the state examiner expects to recommend that mandamus proceedings be instituted against the library board to compel it to turn rentals and fines into the city treasury.

Permits Tank Installation.

In addition to taking up the bank and library controversies council passed a resolution, under suspension of rules, permitting Ray Gelbaugh to put in a gasolene station at No. 202 Superior street. Under the permit he may install a 500-gallon tank under the sidewalk.

A resolution permitting H. F. Winters to put in a gasolene station with a 250-gallon tank under the sidewalk, at No. 1198 east Center street, was given its first reading. It is reported that several property owners in the neighborhood were protesting against installation of the station and the resolution was given but one reading to enable them to appear and enter a protest if they care to do so.

WARNER & EDWARDS' SPRING STYLE SHOW

Charming Models Display Attractive Spring Apparel.

TOUR OF BUILDING PART OF PROGRAM

Variety of Costumes Shown. Spring Materials Greet Visitors in Each Department.

Dame Fashion's most attractive array of frocks, coats, hats and accessories, worn by charming models, and a splendid musical program by the Philomel orchestra marked the formal spring opening of the Warner & Edwards company Wednesday evening between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The store was visited by an unusually large crowd and following the style show a tour of the entire building was made by the guests.

Each floor was handsomely decorated with baskets of ferns and spring flowers and a fine display of spring materials in each department.

Show Variety of Costumes.

The models walked through the aisles of the first and second floors and the visitors were given an opportunity to select a costume for any occasion from a walking suit of knickers to a chic afternoon frock of modish lines. Each model received a hearty applause as she passed through the aisle or turned on the staircase to display a dashing lining to coat or cape.

Among the models of particular interest were the stunning Madame Ruste cape dress of black crepe net with cape lining of red worn with a small French hat trimmed with red poppies displayed by Miss Crystal Staley, and the three-piece tweed suit of lavender worn by Miss Martha Brenner. Miss Brenner's suit was worn with a black hat, gloves and shoes.

The last word in chicness were the two sport models shown by Miss Catherine Winstead, the first a walking suit of brown tweed knickers, sailor hat and cane, and the other a lavender sport model of plain box coat and lavender and white checked skirt. The suit was completed with an effective lavender hat trimmed in spring flowers.

Miss Katherine Kunkle showed a fetching frock of ruffled blue canton crepe worn with a small silver trimmed hat, while a summery cape dress of yellow net was shown by Mrs. Claude Dayton, of Columbus.

A dashing spring coat of black and yellow check was worn by Miss Lucille Schultz and Miss Louise Neal showed a tweed sport coat with a throw collar.

Shows Juvenile Apparel.

Miss Betty McDonald wore junior apparel and one of her most pleasing costumes was a crimson beiette, sport outfit worn with sport shoes and hat.

The musical program was a pleasing feature of the evening as were also the soprano numbers by Mrs. W. B. Long. Miss Katherine Kunkle and Mr. J. E. Coulile. Mrs. Long sang, "Se Saran Rose Luigi Arditi," with the violin obligato by C. L. Colmer, and "Winter Memories." Miss Kunkle sang "I Will Weave a Song for You," while Mr. Coulile's numbers were "The Old Refrain," and "Where My Caravan Has Rested." The soloists each responded to an encore. Miss Helen Zuck accompanied on the piano.

Orchestra Numbers.

The special orchestra numbers were "Overture Philomel," "Hide-a-Wee," "Serenade," "Hungarian Dance," "Barcarolle," "Blue Danube Waltz," and "Woodland Echoes." The orchestra also played popular numbers during the modeling.

Of especial interest at this time of year was the gorgeous array of silks and linens on the first floor. Irish table linen, filet, cluny and Madeira linens were featured in the linen department, while the silk department was gorgeous in Folly Red, new Beige, periwinkle blue and other modish spring shades. The millinery department was particularly attractive with an array of fascinating hats from the natty French model to the most beautiful of afternoon patterns.

Howitzer Cagers Win.

Howitzer company cagers smothered the Marion Independents thirty-seven to fifteen in a game featuring a smoker at the armory Wednesday evening. Prior to the game the soldiers gave exhibitions of their prowess in close-order drills, wig-wag and heliograph signalling and other departments in which they are trained.

The members of the company demonstrated to the satisfaction of those present the ability which has led them to be classified as one of the best National Guard outfits in the state. Many guests were present. Light refreshments were served at the close of the basketball game.

Norris led the point-getters in the basketball game, with a total of twelve. Gray was a close second, with four baskets and one foul to his credit. All of the members of the team displayed cleverness both in offensive and defensive play and the Independents never proved dangerous. The score:

RUSSIAN FAMINE VICTIMS RELIEVED

American Corn Is Distributed Rapidly.

Riga, March 16.—Deliveries of American corn to the Russian famine stricken consumers are now made within a few hours after the arrival of the trains. Since the first delivery at Tsaritsin there has been an unbroken ribbon of sleds over the snow-clad landscape. As far as the eye can reach along the roads sleds, drawn by camels, horses, oxen and often by different kinds of animals hitched to the same vehicle, have furnished a winding line of variegated colors in motion day and night. Not one wasted grain is to be found. Each peasant has constituted himself as a guard to protect the supplies to the point of consumption. Deliveries are made with great rapidity. Tsaritsin is filled with vehicles coming in and waiting to be unloaded.

Bids Received For Fleet.

Washington, March 16.—The shipping board received 25 bids in response to the advertisement offering virtually its entire fleet for sale. Opening of the bids has been postponed as a result of the absence of Vice President Farley in charge of sales. One bid opened inadvertently because it was improperly addressed was from a man in North Dakota, who offered $225,000,000 for the entire fleet. He failed, however, to enclose a certified check for 2½ per cent of the amount of his bid.

Predict Fall of Lloyd George.

London, March 16.—The death knell of the coalition government and the impending resignation of Lloyd George is seen by the British press in the breakdown of the Conservative party meeting, at which Chamberlain and Balfour failed to win the "die hards" element over to the support of a vote of confidence in the government.

Sniper Kills Child.

Belfast, March 16.—A child 5 years old was shot dead here by a sniper, and a man was shot and killed.

Schoenlaub failed to land a place in the all events as he has in the past two years, his total for the nine games being, 1,717 as compared to 1,881 at Buffalo last year. Schoenlaub's best work was in the doubles when he hit for 600 in the three games by scoring 257 in his last effort. The scores made by the locals follow:

Toledo, March 16. — Claman Dairy Lunch, of Indianapolis, Central Alley five, of Terre Haute, Hawthorne Club, of Chicago, Oertel Company, of Louisville, and Kalamazoo Paint Company, of Kalamazoo, are the feature fives looked to by fans as having a chance to knock the Minerallites, of Chicago, out of first place when they take the drives in the American Bowling congress here tonight.

There are a number of other good teams entered, four St. Louis Knights of Columbus fives being among them. Louisville, Monroe, Michigan, Kokomo, Indiana, Elyria, Ohio, Elizabeth, New Jersey, Chicago, Fort Wayne, Terre Haute and Flint, Michigan, are also to be represented.

Girl Scouts Meet.

BASEBALL

Gleason Is Elated.

Seguin, Texas, March 16. — The pitching of Charlie Robertson and the manner in which the players clubbed the ball in their game with the Giants yesterday, caused such elation to Kid Gleason, White Sox pilot, despite the fact that the Giants won five to two. Bad throws by Johnny Mostil, an outfielder subbing at second base, aided the Giants in accumulating their runs.

Redlegs To Cross Bats.

Mineral Wells, Texas, March 16. —Pat Moran's redlegs will cross bats again today with the Dallas mavines, the boys they walloped yesterday to the tune of eleven to two. Yesterday was a gala day here, the entire town turning out to root for the Cincinnati team. Moran and owners of the New York Yankees have agreed upon plans for a "Babe Ruth day" in Cincinnati, the home run king to appear there July 24.

Hurling Strengthened.

Dallas, Texas, March 16. — With Walter Mails, port slabber, at top form, as shown by his one hit game yesterday, and Vasco Barton, Kentucky recruit, showing Manager Speaker a fine line of goods, the Cleveland leader is certain today that the hurling, a weak spot last year, has been greatly strengthened.

To Line Up Regulars.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 16. — Manager George Gibson, of the Pittsburgh Pirates today planned to put all rookie players in the line-up of the regulars and Yanuigans on the theory that the old timers could play ball and he'd like to see what the youngsters can do. Rookie pitchers will be used in the three game series with the Red Sox opening tomorrow. Babe Adams has a wrenched back and can not play now.

Jones To Start Game.

New Orleans, La., March 16. — Sam Jones, formerly with the Red Sox, will start the Yankee's first game with the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday. "Home Run" Baker seems to have the call over Mike McNally for the third basing job. Norman McMillan is showing class in the infield.

WITH THE PUGS

Dempsey To Tour Europe.

New York, March 16. — Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, is following in the wake of champions in other divisions in his projected plan for a tour of Europe. The champion plans to sail within a month. Some of the champions have found the fistic game on the other side unprofitable but the peculiar attraction for Dempsey on the other side is a project by Charles B. Cochran, theatrical producer and fight promoter, to stage a return engagement for the champion with Georges Carpentier. If it materializes, the fight will take place in one of the natural football enclosures in Britain, capable of seating 150,000 persons.

Welsh Near Knockout.

New York, March 16. — Freddy Welsh, former boss of the lightweight division, who came within an ace of being knocked out when he fought Charlot White, believes the Chicagoan is the hardest hitting lightweight in the game today and opines that Johnny Dundee will be in for the fight of his life when he enters the ring in Madison Square Garden to do battle with Charley tomorrow night.

Anti-Ku-Klux Klan Organized.

Healdton, Okla., March 16.—An anti-Ku-Klux Klan organization, known as the Knights of the Visible Empire, has been formed here. John Q. Hyde, one of the organizers, announced in a statement that the purpose of the society "is to protest against mob rule, as exemplified in the teachings of the Ku-Klux Klan." Hyde is a local attorney.

A Revelation! A Sensation!!

Such as never before was ever known in any theater in the History of the World yesterday at the Grand Theater, when enthusiastic thousands stood up and cheered,

They came—they saw—she conquered. The love romance of the most beautiful woman the world has ever known, presented by William Fox in this great super screen spectacle.

AND THEN—

THE CHARIOT RACE

Six great chariots, each drawn by four blooded Arabian horses, plunging madly head-on toward the audence. Round and round the course they go—a smash—a crash—an axle breaks—the plunging horses fall, their driver with them. Then full tilt over these prostrate forms another chariot and four horses plunge on to victory.

NOTHING LIKE THIS TERRIFIC CHARIOT RACE HAS EVER BEEN SHOWN IN THE WORLD. TODAY UNTIL SATURDAY.

THE GRAND

HOCKING VALLEY WILL INSTALL HEAVIER RAILS

To Place Four Miles of 130-Pound Rails This Season.

Four miles of 130-pound rail will supplement the present 100-pound rail in the Hocking Valley main line from Columbus to Ackerman as well as sixteen miles of other track which will be replaced this season on the Toledo division of the Hocking Valley from Columbus to Toledo. In the territory from Columbus to Fostoria about 40,000 ties will be renewed this year and from ten to twelve miles of crushed stone ballast will replace cinder and slag ballast at present on the freight track. Four miles of this will be put in from Owens to Marion. All of the ballast on the main line is crushed stone at the present time. It is expected that work will begin about the latter part of April.

The new 130-pound rail will be laid with heat-treated angle bars and one and one-eighth inch bolts. The angle bars and bolts are treated with oil. The new rail weighs about one-third more than the rail now in common usage.

RAILWAY CLERKS HAVE INITIATION

Ladies' Auxiliary of B. of R. T. Meets—Firemen and Enginemen Meet.

A report of the convention held in Cleveland recently was given last night by John J. Zuck, recording secretary for the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Employes, at a meeting of the organization in the Junior Order hall on west Center street. The convention was held at Cleveland February 19, by delegates who will attend the International convention at Dallas, Texas, May 1 to 20, representing Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, West Virginia, Pennsylvania west of Pittsburgh, and New York west of Buffalo. Two candidates were initiated at the meeting. The next meeting will be April 5.

The Ladies' auxiliary to the B. of R. T. met Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance. Two applications for membership were received and six were balloted on. Mrs. Pearl Taylor, of Galion, a former member, was a guest. An invitation was accepted to visit the Bucyrus lodge April 12. The next meeting will be held April 5.

An interesting session of the B. of L. F. & E. was held Wednesday evening and considerable business transacted. Plans were made for a special meeting to be held March 28 at which time a number of grand lodge officers will be local visitors. The next meeting will be held in one week.

FLOODS RECEDING IN SOUTHERN OHIO

Hocking Valley Is Hardest Hit by Rising Waters.

Columbus March 16.—Ohio streams which rose rapidly following the heavy rains are subsiding and danger of flood damage appears to have passed.

While several smaller streams had flooded bottom lands and the Hocking river was forcing numerous residents from their homes in the vicinity of Athens, in most cases the water was falling and there appeared no danger of general flood conditions.

The Ohio river continued its slow rise in its lower reaches, overflowing bottom lands at Portsmouth and reaching a stage of 51.3 feet at Cincinnati, but no serious damage was estimated at any point.

A survey of conditions throughout the state showed the Hocking valley probably most seriously affected by the freshet. The Hocking river at Athens reached a stage of 26 feet. Families in mining settlements removed their household effects. The Scioto river overflowed roads at Circleville, Chillicothe, Piketon and Waverly, and invaded bottom lands, but was falling here. Tributaries also are falling.

M'ADOO PROPOSES CHECK ON PARTIES

Organization of Citizens Is Proposed.

Los Angeles, March 16.—What he termed the "intolerant partisan basis on which our government functions" was deprecated in the first speech delivered here by William J. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and director general of railroads, since he came to Los Angeles to make his home.

In a speech before the City club he declared all matters taken before congress or other legislative bodies were settled upon a political basis, often much to the detriment of the purpose. "What we should have in the United States," he said, "is a large body of intelligent citizens who are not affiliated with any party and who could hold the balance of power. Such citizens should be Americans first, and their check on the big parties would be most valuable."

ence will be worked out.

According to a dispatch from Warsaw, the little entente—Roumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia—will agree upon a joint program for the conference and is demanding a voice in the arrangements.

The Copenhagen Politiken—according to a message from the Danish capital—says that the little entente has refused to take over part of the Russian national debt.

To Ignore Demands.

Criccieth, Wales, March 16.—Premier Lloyd George has decided to ignore the demands of the Tories that he resign, it was learned today.

Paderewski May Run.

San Francisco, March 16.—A well defined report is in circulation in Polish circles on the Pacific coast that Ignace Jan Paderewski is about to come out of his political retirement and become a candidate for the presidency of Poland at the June elections.

According to this report, something like a triumphal return to his native land is planned by friends of the "father" of the Polish republic and its first premier.

No denial or confirmation of the report has come from the noted pianist at his almond orchard estate near Paso Robles but Dr. G. W. Tape of Paso Robles, here on a visit, was quoted today as stating that Paderewski has refused a million dollar offer from a New York impressario for a concert tour.

Gives Up Art.

This was taken to indicate that the great musician has definitely given up his art and as indicating that he has something else in mind which will require his time and attention.

That the return of Paderewski is being urged by no less personage than Premier David Lloyd George, of Great Britain, was the report current here. Dr. Tape contended that the British premier has been in close touch with the former Polish premier at Paso Robles. Paderewski is reported by the British as less susceptible to French influence than Marshal Pilsudski, the present head of the Polish government, and probable presidential candidate.

FORDNEY WILL SEE PRESIDENT

...ed action can be expected.

The president planned a full day of golf today, both morning and afternoon. He is eager to get in as much exercise as possible before starting for Washington and hard work tomorrow.

Last night the president, Mrs. Harding, Speaker Gillett, Secretary of War Weeks and Under Secretary of State Fletcher stood in line for an hour at a public reception, shaking hands with nearly 2,000 persons.

The estimate of cost of the bonus was made out on a basis of ten per cent payments of compensation that amounts to $50 or less, fifty per cent in adjusted service certificates, ... per cent. vocational training and ten per cent. farm and home aid and 7 1-2 per cent. land settlement ...

For the year 1923, it is estimated that the bonus cost will be $16,... cash; $26,604,000 death payments; $31,675,000 vocational ...

Nearly Five Billion.

Washington, March 16. — The total cost of the soldier bonus bill under the plan proposed is placed at $4,... spread out over twenty years, according to an analysis made today by Republican members of the ways and means committee in a report submitted to the house.

Of this great total, only about $500,000,000 will fall upon the government during the next five years, and but $74,279,000 during the fiscal year 1922-23.

WAY IS OPEN FOR DAVIS NOW

The fact remains, however, that those who most violently urge that the governor will be a candidate are office holders.

The report made today is from the pen of George E. Frazer, Chicago, who virtually drafted the reorganization bill after having been brought here by Governor Davis. In this activity he was closely in touch with the governor.

At Governor's Request.

It was the governor who brought him here the second time to make the survey and report on the conditions he found. With Frazer, who is a certified accountant, were Wilfred G. Sigerson, another accountant; Frank A. Crocker, formerly a statistician with the quartermaster corps, and Walter F. Dodd, a Chicago attorney.

As might well be expected, the report is far from unfavorable to the administration of Governor Davis.

It contends that in operating expenses a total of $1,772,086.46 has been saved from July 1 to December 31, the first six months that the new plan was in operation.

Negro Killed in Gun Fight.

Huntington, W. Va., March 16.—Hurbert Smith, a negro, was killed, and Carl Kates, white, badly wounded, in a gun battle near Chesapeake, Ohio, last night. Smith, fifteen years old told Kates he would "get him," according to the police. Last night the men met on the bank of the Ohio river here. Both pulled guns. Both guns were emptied. The negro stopped four bullets and Kates got two through the chest.

RUSSIAN FAMINE VICTIMS RELIEVED

American Corn Is Distributed Rapidly.

Riga, March 16.—Deliveries of American corn to the Russian famine stricken consumers are now made within a few hours after the arrival of the trains. Since the first delivery at Tsaritsin there has been an unbroken ribbon of sleds over the snow-clad landscape. As far as the eye can reach along the roads sleds, drawn by camels, horses, oxen and often by different kinds of animals hitched to the same vehicle, have furnished a winding line of variegated colors in motion day and night. Not one wasted grain is to be found. Each peasant has constituted himself as a guard to protect the supplies to the point of consumption. Deliveries are made with great rapidity. Tsaritsin is filled with vehicles coming in and waiting to be unloaded.

Bids Received For Fleet.

Washington, March 16.—The shipping board received 25 bids in response to the advertisement offering virtually its entire fleet for sale. Opening of the bids has been postponed as a result of the absence of Vice President Farley in charge of sales. One bid opened inadvertently because it was improperly addressed was from a man in North Dakota, who offered $225,000,000 for the entire fleet. He failed, however, to enclose a certified check for 2½ per cent of the amount of his bid.

Predict Fall of Lloyd George.

London, March 16.—The death knell of the coalition government and the impending resignation of Lloyd George is seen by the British press in the breakdown of the Conservative party meeting, at which Chamberlain and Balfour failed to win the "die hards" element over to the support of a vote of confidence in the government.

Sniper Kills Child.

Belfast, March 15.—A child 5 years old was shot dead here by a sniper, and a man was shot and killed.

BASEBALL

Gleason Is Elated.

Seguin, Texas, March 16. — The pitching of Charlie Robertson and the manner in which the players clubbed the ball in their game with the Giants yesterday, caused such elation to Kid Gleason, White Sox pilot, despite the fact that the Giants won five to two. Bad throws by Johnny Mostil, an outfielder subbing at second base, aided the Giants in accumulating their runs.

Redlegs To Cross Bats.

Mineral Wells, Texas, March 16. —Pat Moran's redlegs will cross bats again today with the Dallas mavines, the boys they walloped yesterday to the tune of eleven to two. Yesterday was a gala day here, the entire town turning out to root for the Cincinnati team. Moran and owners of the New York Yankees have agreed upon plans for a "Babe Ruth day" in Cincinnati, the home run king to appear there July 24.

Hurling Strengthened.

Dallas, Texas, March 16. — With Walter Mails, port slabber, at top form, as shown by his one hit game yesterday, and Vasco Barton, Kentucky recruit, showing Manager Speaker a fine line of goods, the Cleveland leader is certain today that the hurling, a weak spot last year, has been greatly strengthened.

To Line Up Regulars.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 16. — Manager George Gibson, of the Pittsburgh Pirates today planned to put all rookie players in the line-up of the regulars and Yannigans on the theory that the old timers could play ball and he'd like to see what the youngsters can do. Rookie pitchers will be used in the three game series with the Red Sox opening tomorrow. Babe Adams has a wrenched back and can not play now.

New Orleans, La., March 16. — Sam Jones, formerly with the Red Sox, will start the Yankee's first game with the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday. "Home Run" Baker seems to have the call over Mike McNally for the third basing job. Norman McMillan is showing class in the infield.

WITH THE PUGS

Dempsey To Tour Europe.

New York, March 16. — Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, is following in the wake of champions in other divisions in his projected plan for a tour of Europe. The champion plans to sail within a month. Some of the champions have found the fistic game on the other side unprofitable but the peculiar attraction for Dempsey on the other side is a project by Charles B. Cochran, theatrical producer and fight promoter, to stage a return engagement for the champion with Georges Carpentier. If it materializes, the fight will take place in one of the natural football enclosures in Britain, capable of seating 150,000 persons.

Welsh Near Knockout.

New York, March 16. — Freddy Welsh, former boss of the lightweight division, who came within an ace of being knocked out when he fought Charlot White, believes the Chicagoan is the hardest hitting lightweight in the game today and opines that Johnny Dundee will be in for the fight of his life when he enters the ring in Madison Square Garden to do battle with Charley tomorrow night.

Anti-Ku-Klux Klan Organized.

Healdton, Okla., March 16.—An anti-Ku-Klux Klan organization, known as the Knights of the Visible Empire, has been formed here. John Q. A Revelation! A Sensation!!

Such as never before was ever known in any theater in the History of the World yesterday at the Grand Theater, when enthusiastic thousands stood up and cheered,

QUEEN of SHEBA

They came—they saw—she conquered. The love romance of the most beautiful woman the world has ever known, presented by William Fox in this great super screen spectacle.

AND THEN—

THE CHARIOT RACE

Six great chariots, each drawn by four blooded Arabian horses, plunging madly head-on toward the audence. Round and round the course they go—a smash—a crash—an axle breaks—the plunging horses fall, their driver with them. Then full tilt over these prostrate forms another chariot and four horses plunge on to victory.

NOTHING LIKE THIS TERRIFIC CHARIOT RACE HAS EVER BEEN SHOWN IN THE WORLD. TODAY UNTIL SATURDAY.

THE GRAND

such action can be expected.

The president planned a full day of golf today, both morning and afternoon. He is eager to get in as much exercise as possible before starting for Washington and hard work tomorrow.

Last night the president, Mrs. Harding, Speaker Gillett, Secretary of War Weeks and Under Secretary of State Fletcher stood in line for an hour at a public reception, shaking hands with nearly 2,000 persons.

The estimate of cost of the bonus is made out on a basis of ten per cent payments of compensation that amounts to $50 or less, fifty per cent in adjusted service certificates, 2 1-2 per cent. vocational training and 1-2 per cent. farm and home aid and 1-2 per cent. land settlement aid.

For the year 1923, it is estimated that the bonus cost will be $16,- cash; $26,604,000 death payments; $31,675,000 vocational training.

Nearly Five Billion.

Washington, March 16. — The total cost of the soldier bonus bill under the plan proposed is placed at $4,615,215,350, spread out over twenty years, according to an analysis made today by Republican members of the ways and means committee in a report submitted to the house.

Of this great total, only about $500,000,000 will fall upon the government during the next five years, and but $74,279,000 during the fiscal year 1922-23.

WAY IS OPEN FOR DAVIS NOW

The fact remains, however, that those who most violently urge that the governor will be a candidate are office holders.

The report made today is from the pen of George E. Frazer, Chicago, who virtually drafted the reorganization bill after having been brought here by Governor Davis. In this activity he was closely in touch with the governor.

At Governor's Request.

It was the governor who brought him here the second time to make the survey and report on the conditions he found. With Frazer, who is a certified accountant, were Wilfred G. Sigerson, another accountant; Frank A. Crocker, formerly a statistician with the quartermaster corps, and Walter F. Dodd, a Chicago attorney.

As might well be expected, the report is far from unfavorable to the administration of Governor Davis.

It contends that in operating expenses a total of $1,772,096.46 has been saved from July 1 to December 31, the first six months that the new plan was in operation.

Negro Killed in Gun Fight.

Huntington, W. Va., March 16.—Hurbert Smith, a negro, was killed, and Carl Kates, white, badly wounded, in a gun battle near Chesapeake, Ohio, last night. Smith, fifteen years old told Kates he would "get him," according to the police. Last night the men met on the bank of the Ohio river here. Both pulled guns. Both guns were emptied. The negro stopped four bullets and Kates got two through the chest.

HOCKING VALLEY WILL INSTALL HEAVIER RAILS

To Place Four Miles of 130-Pound Rails This Season.

RAILWAY CLERKS HAVE INITIATION

Ladies' Auxiliary of B. of R. T. Meets—Firemen and Enginemen Meet.

Four miles of 130-pound rail will supplement the present 100-pound rail in the Hocking Valley main line from Columbus to Ackerman as well as sixteen miles of other track which will be replaced this season on the Toledo division of the Hocking Valley from Columbus to Toledo. In the territory from Columbus to Fostoria about 40,000 ties will be renewed this year and from ten to twelve miles of crushed stone ballast will replace cinder and slag ballast at present on the freight track. Four miles of this will be put in from Owens to Marion. All of the ballast on the main line is crushed stone at the present time. It is expected that work will begin about the latter part of April.

The new 130-pound rail will be laid with heat-treated angle bars and one and one-eighth inch bolts. The angle bars and bolts are treated with oil. The new rail weighs about one-third more than the rail now in common usage.

A report of the convention held in Cleveland recently was given last night by John J. Zuck, recording secretary for the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Employes, at a meeting of the organization in the Junior Order hall on west Center street. The convention was held at Cleveland February 19, by delegates who will attend the International convention at Dallas, Texas, May 1 to 20, representing Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, West Virginia, Pennsylvania west of Pittsburgh, and New York west of Buffalo. Two candidates were initiated at the meeting. The next meeting will be April 5.

The Ladies' auxiliary to the B. of R. T. met Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance. Two applications for membership were received and six were balloted on. Mrs. Pearl Taylor, of Galion, a former member, was a guest. An invitation was accepted to visit the Bucyrus lodge April 12. The next meeting will be held April 5.

An interesting session of the B. of L. F. & E. was held Wednesday evening and considerable business transacted. Plans were made for a special meeting to be held March 28 at which time a number of grand lodge officers will be local visitors. The next meeting will be held in one week.

FLOODS RECEDING IN SOUTHERN OHIO

Hocking Valley Is Hardest Hit by Rising Waters.

Columbus March 16.—Ohio streams which rose rapidly following the heavy rains are subsiding and danger of flood damage appears to have passed.

While several smaller streams had flooded bottom lands and the Hocking river was forcing numerous residents from their homes in the vicinity of Athens, in most cases the water was falling and there appeared no danger of general flood conditions.

The Ohio river continued its slow rise in its lower reaches, overflowing bottom lands at Portsmouth and reaching a stage of 51.3 feet at Cincinnati, but no serious damage was estimated at any point.

A survey of conditions throughout the state showed the Hocking valley probably most seriously affected by the freshet. The Hocking river at Athens reached a stage of 25 feet. Families in mining settlements removed their household effects. The Scioto river overflowed roads at Circleville, Chillicothe, Piketon and Waverly, and invaded bottom lands, but was falling here. Tributaries also are falling.

M'ADOO PROPOSES CHECK ON PARTIES

Organization of Citizens Is Proposed.

Los Angeles, March 16.—What he termed the "intolerant partisan basis on which our government functions" was deprecated in the first speech delivered here by William J. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and director general of railroads, since he came to Los Angeles to make his home.

In a speech before the City club he declared all matters taken before congress or other legislative bodies were settled upon a political basis, often much to the detriment of the purpose. "What we should have in the United States," he said, "is a large body of intelligent citizens who are not affiliated with any party and who could hold the balance of power. Such citizens should be Americans first, and their check on the big parties would be most valuable."

San Francisco, March 16.—Completion of a jury to try Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle the third time for manslaughter was probable today as the trial entered upon its fourth day. Eleven tentative jurors were in the box including three women when court convened. The state had exercised one of its five peremptory challenges and the defense two with eight still in reserve. To Ignore Demands.

Criccieth, Wales, March 16.—Premier Lloyd George has decided to ignore the demands of the Tories that he resign, it was learned today.

Paderewski May Run.

San Francisco, March 16.—A well defined report is in circulation in Polish circles on the Pacific coast that Ignace Jan Paderewski is about to come out of his political retirement and become a candidate for the presidency of Poland at the June elections.

According to this report, something like a triumphal return to his native land is planned by friends of the "father" of the Polish republic and its first premier.

No denial or confirmation of the report has come from the noted pianist at his Almont orchard estate near Paso Robles but Dr. G. W. Tape of Paso Robles, here on a visit, was quoted today as stating that Paderewski has refused a million dollar offer from a New York impressario for a concert tour.

Gives Up Art.

This was taken to indicate that the great musician has definitely given up his art and as indicating that he has something else in mind which will require his time and attention.

That the return of Paderewski is being urged by no less personage than Premier David Lloyd George, of Great Britain, was the report current here. Dr. Tape contended that the British premier has been in close touch with the former Polish premier at Paso Robles. Paderewski is reported by the British as less susceptible to French influence than Marshal Pilsudski, the present head of the Polish government, and probable presidential candidate.

My Marriage Problems

Addie Garrison's Next Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc

Elizabeth Harrison did not faint her throat to leave our home immediately because of her mother's ultimatum to her concerning her punishment methods. Instead with provoking literalness she obeyed Mother Graham's command to lie down in her own room, to remain there invisible to everybody save her mother and Mary, for two days.

Mary, with unfailing cheerfulness, trudged up and down the stairs carrying her mother's food trays and waiting upon her other whims. Of course this performance put more household work upon the shoulders of Mother Graham than Lillian and me, but from the fact that my married mother-in-law did not compel her daughter to get up and take her share of the household burdens I argued that the sudden tumbling of Mrs. Harrison's house of cards about her ears had affected her nerves more or less seriously.

For myself I would willingly have worked three times as hard for the privilege of having her invisible. I always had disliked Elizabeth, but the incident of the necklace intensified my feeling to positive loathing, and I was glad, indeed, when at the end of her two days' seclusion, she departed, with children and baggage, for her own home.

When Elizabeth had gone, everything in our horizons, mental and physical, seemed to settle down to a monotonous tranquility most refreshing after the strenuous days following our homecoming from the mountains. Lillian's mind was at ease, temporarily, at least, about the man in the hospital, whose mysterious persecution of Kallo had caused so much trouble. Dr. Pettit gave her a daily report upon his condition, which varied from the first day when he was pronounced "barely breathing, and unconscious," to the tenth, when the physician said cautiously that "it now seems as if the miracle of ultimate recovery might be looked for."

"Has he talked?" Lillian demanded sharply.

"No, he is too weak to do more than whisper a request for a drink of water or to answer some necessary question from the nurse."

Dr. Pettit hesitated perceptibly at the end of his answer, and looked at Lillian doubtfully.

"But I think he is worrying vaguely about something," he said. "And that worry will no doubt find expression sooner or later."

"I know," Lillian returned, cupped her chin in her hands for a few seconds, then asked briskly: "Have there been any inquiries concerning him at the hospital today?"

She had asked the same question every day that Dr. Pettit had reported to her, and he had given her the same answer, a laconic "No." But today he added a cryptic, "Not about him," stressing the pronoun ever so slightly.

"What do you mean?" Her tone was tense, alert, and I knew that she sensed danger in his answer.

"There was a report asked for today," the physician said slowly, "of all mortality and accidental injury cases occurring in the hospital during the last month. Of course, that covers a much longer time than the duration of this man's injuries, but—"

"Where did it come from?" Lillian demanded, and there was that in her inflection which told me how impatient she was of the physician's ponderous period.

"It apparently was a simple request from the police department of New York City," Dr. Pettit answered.

"Of course," Lillian retorted. "That's an old and effective dodge." It was answered, I suppose."

"It had to be," the physician returned. "There's one thing certain." Lillian said decidedly, "and this is that I've got to plan some way to keep track of that fellow when he gets out of the hospital. How long can you exercise your authority to keep him absolutely incommunicado?"

Without any stretching of the truth I can forbid any one save his nurse speaking to him for two weeks to come. Any physician would bear me out in this action."

Good!" Lillian rose, and Dr. [illegible] took her cue and left at the same time.

"Two weeks!" Lillian reflected when he had gone. "Oh, for the old days before [illegible] and [illegible] took her away!" I could cordially [illegible] her!"

She went to her room and locked herself in, and I knew that she was wrestling with the problem when the seemingly innocuous request from the city police department had given her. I could do nothing to help her, and I worried accordingly until by evening my nerves were nothing save a frazzled edge.

Jerry Vicer with the mail was a welcome diversion, but as I sorted the letters I pounced upon one addressed in a familiar chirography with a feeling that there was something almost uncanny upon receiving it on this particular day. When I had read it, I dashed upstairs to Lillian's room and pounded frantically upon the door.

"Talk about the long arm of our old friend Coincidence!" I gasped, when Lillian opened the door, arching her eyebrows in subtle disapproval of my haste. "Just read this letter from Katherine Bickett."

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $5

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your cold wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this cheap all home made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. JUBILEE'S PARDNER

Today has been warmer yet, and there was not any wind and the sun was shining all day, and the teacher was looking out of the window all day almost, and she said she was going to give a present to the first pupil that brings her a branch of dogwood blossoms, and then she gapped and stretched and told us to study our jogafy lesson.

There are some dogwood trees out the old Columbus street road in the woods where the dugout used to be, but I bet if we were to go out there and waste a Saturday or Sunday or something when they are in bloom she would give us a picture card, or maybe want to kiss us. I told Nibs he could have my share of the dogwood blossoms and he said he would rather have a snake's hind foot, and that was brite of him to think of that, because a snake has not got any hind foot. It is easy enough to think of things that things have got, but it takes brains to think of things they have not got.

Skunk had a rat trap made out of wire and wood and a spring that would crack a hickory nut, and he showed it to us at recess and he said we would all go out under the stink factory after school and he would tie some cheese on it and we would set still and watch the rats come out one by one and commit suicide. Nibs said for him to set it and sneak it into the drawer of the teacher's desk, but I said if he did I would bust him one, and then the Lost Bag of Tripe said to let him take it, and he set it and hid it under his coat and we all went in the basement and he put it in the old starch box where the janitor keeps his pipe when he is not smoking it.

We all sot around and talked to the janitor till the bell rang, but he did not want to smoke, and after we got in our room we studied with one eye and listened with the other and after awhile when it was almost time for school to let out we heard someone holler and drop a shovel, and the teacher went out of the room, and when she come back Nibs had Bunt down in the aisle and was setting on his face. She asted each of us if we had a rat trap, and we all said no, except Skunk, and he said he did not have one but he could lend her a mousetrap if it would do her any good and he looked so innocent that she did not know what to think, and it would of been all right if he had kept his face shut, but he said he used to have a rat trap but he lent it to a fella.

We heard some one holler and drop a shovel, and the teacher went out of the room.

Then she asted him who he lent it to and he seen he had said too much, but he had to say to the Lost Bag of Tripe, and then she asted him if he had set it for the janitor, and he said he had put it in the box so if any kid went to steal the janitor's pipe, and she said to stay after school. We all told Skunk what we thought of him. It is going to be kinda hard on the Lost Bag of Tripe because I don't think he can lick Skunk, My father made me go to bed early so if the house caught fire I would have some sleep before it happened. He thinks he is funny.

LARUE LITERARY SECTION PROGRAM

Forty Take Part in Last Program of Year.

La Rue, O., March 13.—[Special]—Section "B" of the La Rue high school literary society gave its last program for this year Friday afternoon. There were about forty on the program, the featuring numbers being an oration by Lillian Codding on invective by Mildred White, eulogy by Frank Thompson; a recitation by Veda Knepper; a vocal solo by Lillian Mather; a monologue by Elizabeth Raub and Indian song by Eileen Rhodes, jokes by Emery Thompson, a synopsis, "Silver Sandles," by Leonard Metz, class quotations by Mary Culp and a monologue by Catherine Carter. In spite of the inclement weather, about sixty members of the Methodist Sunday-school Aid society, church and friends, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Shirk, recently, the occasion being a farewell reception for the Shirk family, for many years members of the church and active working members. They expect to move to Marion in the near future. After a song service, Rev. J. W. Horne conducted devotionals and a social good time followed. The Aid society and the Sunday-school presented them with a remembrance. Refreshments were served.

"Little Hustlers" is the name of a class of boys organized last Sunday with Damon Parker as teacher. The officers are Alfred Baker, president; Irvin Dutton, vice president; Lloyd Williams, secretary; Shelby Knepper, assistant secretary; Robert Copeland, treasurer and Carey Greenwood, reporter.

The F. L. S. class of boys of the Methodist Sunday-school, with the teacher, Howard H. Bailey, met Friday evening at the home of Milford Mohr. A social time was held and the host's mother, Mrs. Ralph Mohr, served refreshments. The class will meet in one month with George Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mohr extended hospitality to the Epworth league at the regular monthly social Tuesday evening. The following musical program was rendered: a piano and violin duet was played by Lucia and Kenneth Ruckman and a piano solo was given by Mary Horne. After a piano and saxiphone duet, Evalyn and Milford Mohr, a vocal quartet was given by Florence Shirk, Evalyn Mohr, Kenneth Ruckman and Milford Mohr. Joseph Miller, of Prospect, has purchased the LaRue bakery from his brother, Mr. Francis Miller. He took possession Wednesday. He expects to move his family to this place in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Derringer are the parents of a son born Thursday morning. The baby was named John.

Mrs. Opal Darnell, of Richwood, teacher of music in the public schools and also assists in the lower grade work, suffered a nervous break down Friday afternoon at the close of school. She was taken to her home Sunday for medical treatment and a rest. Miss Parker is acting as substitute in the grade work.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. T. L. Shirk. There was a large attendance at the meeting, it being in the nature of a face-well to Mrs. Shirk who with her family will soon become residents of Marion. As a slight token of the society's appreciation Mrs. Emma Gaston with a few well chosen remarks, presented Mrs. Shirk with a handsome mahogany tray Mrs. Shirk responded. Mrs. W. P. LaRue, Mrs. Gaston, Mrs. G. D. Knepper, Mrs. G. A. L. Markwith and Miss Retta Scheckler were on the program. Mrs. John Welst, Mrs. G. D. Knepper, Mrs. Ralph Mohr, Mrs. De Ver Scott, Miss LaVerne Welst, Miss Florence Shirk and Miss Mary Horne were guests. A social hour followed the program during which the hostess served refreshments.

O. L. Wadkins, who has passed the winter at this place in the interest of Kobco Hay company of Terre Haute, Indiana, left for his home at Orenee, Illinois, Wednesday.

The LaRue Protective association met Monday evening and changed their time of meeting from the first Monday in the month to the first Wednesday night in the month After the business meeting refreshments were enjoyed.

The Missionary society of the Baptist church held an interesting and well-attended meeting, Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. S. Brown. Roll call was answered with scripture verses. Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Mrs. J. A. Sutton and Mrs. John Roseberry contributed to the program. During the business session plans were completed for the annual St. Patrick's birthday supper which will be held in the G. A. R. hall Saturday evening, March 18. The hostess served refreshments for which a silver offering was taken. The next meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. V. S. Secord.

INGROWN TOE NAIL
How to Toughen Skin so Nail Turns Out Itself
A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.
"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

THE CHANGE WAS VERY WONDERFUL
Suffered Agonies from Stomach Trouble, Constipation, Headaches and Backache.
Dreco Gave Grand Relief.
Many people, both men and women, have been delivered from sickness and pain through the use of the great herbal remedy, Dreco, which is made from the juices and extracts of twelve medical plants which have a direct and beneficial action.

One of the latest to testify to the grand benefits from Dreco is Mrs. Ola Hadley of 114 South Pleasant Street, Jackson, Mich., who is popular among a host of friends. She writes:
"I have taken three bottles of Dreco and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. It relieved my constipation promptly, whereas before, I had to take medicine continually to keep my bowels moving. I am no longer annoyed by indigestion or gas in the stomach. I used to suffer terribly from backache but that is all gone now ,and I never feel dizzy or have a headache.
"I am glad to publish this letter to help some one else who may read it and lead them to get Dreco, for it will surely benefit them."
Dreco is being specially introduced by The Rexall Store, Carl G. Ungerich, proprietor, in Marion, and sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

HER AILMENTS ALL GONE NOW
Mrs. Sherman Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lake, Michigan.—"About one year ago I suffered with irregularities and a weakness and at times was obliged to stay off my feet. I doctored with our family physician and he finally said he could not understand my case, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After I had taken the first bottle I could see that I was getting better. I took several bottles of the Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and I am entirely cured of my ailments. You may publish this letter if you wish."—Mrs. MARY SHERMAN, Route 2, Lake, Mich.
There is one fact women should consider and that is this. Women suffer from irregularities and various forms of weakness. They try this and that doctor, as well as different medicines. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, and Mrs. Sherman's experience is simply another case showing the merit of this well-known medicine.
If your family physician fails to help you and the same old troubles persist, why isn't it reasonable to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

The Lights of a Great City
Exide BATTERIES
Suddenly a black thunder-shower rolls up over the city. Although it is mid-afternoon, lights are switched on in thousands of offices and homes until the towering city looks like an illuminated honeycomb. In many great cities huge Exide Storage Batteries in the central power stations are called on to supply current through the emergency. So powerful are these batteries, weighing hundreds of tons, that they can supply millions of candle power. Nearly all the central station batteries in America are Exides.
Exide Batteries are used in scores of ways—to supply the current for the vast network of telephone systems; to light trains; operate switches and fire alarms; to propel mine locomotives and trucks.
When you need a new battery for starting and lighting your automobile, the nearest service station can supply you with an Exide whose rugged power will add to your satisfaction in motoring and whose long life will prove a true economy.

REPORT MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW
Says we must keep feet dry; avoid exposure and eat less meat.
Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.
Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.
At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.—Adv.

THE FUTURE OF RUSSIA.

The world will hope that Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the great Russian philosopher, is a true prognosticator when he predicts a United States of Russia will rise from the ruins of the present debacle in that vast land.

Few Americans not included in the audiences that have heard him perhaps know that Count Tolstoy is now lecturing in the United States. This may be because the son of the famous Russian—unlike a few snobs who have been here recently recouping their fortunes with their tongues—really has something to say.

"Those the world over who believed at first that the new regime in Russia would eventually bring order out of chaos, peace instead of strife, plenty to banish famine, have been disillusioned," says Count Tolstoy. The world, he says, has come to the view he expressed in 1917 when he returned to Russia and saw what the Bolshevists had wrought—that the Russian revolution was not a revolution in the same sense as political events in American and French history.

Count Tolstoy emphatically denies that his father, Leo Tolstoy, was a believer in or teacher of Bolshevism. All his writings and his teaching, he says, were antagonistic to tyranny, whether of emperor or communist. Of Russia's future he says:

"The great revolution is even now in progress in Russia; it is the revolution of Tolstoy, the 'revolution of passive resistance,' carried on by Tolstoy's great friend, the Russian peasant. Bolshevism can not withstand this and some day, I think in the near future, there will emerge the United States of Russia."

JONAH AND THE BIG FISH.

The "Book of Jonah" has borne the brunt of jests from time immemorial because of the miraculous preservation of Jonah as narrated therein. It is the only book in the Bible ridiculed with thoughtless fluency of speech and pen.

Jonah, according to the Old Testament, was a Hebrew prophet. He was commanded by the Lord to go to the city of Nineveh, Bible students will recall, and "cry against it." Jonah disobeyed the Lord. He fled to a ship bound for Tarshish. A tempest was sent by the Lord. The sailors blamed Jonah and Jonah suggested that they throw him overboard. The tempest ceased when the prophet was cast into the waters. Jonah, according to the Old Testament, was swallowed by a great fish and three days later cast up on the shore. In the New Testament this "great fish" is called a "whale" by Matthew.

Before a certain Sunday-school class in Marion a short time ago the lesson had to do with Jonah, and the teacher, in the course of his discussion, read about a great fish captured off the coast of Florida. He read from a circular labeled "Facts." He said that he had been privileged to see the big fish on exhibition and proceeded to read from the circular. The fish measured forty-five feet in length, weighed fifteen tons, its liver alone weighed 1,700 pounds, or more than ten full grown men put together; it was twenty-three feet around the body and its tail measured ten feet; it had swallowed a blackfish weighing 1,500 pounds; it could have swallowed twenty Jonahs without suffering the slightest pangs of indigestion.

A member of this Sunday-school class was sufficiently interested to learn something more about this big fish which the circular described. He took the matter up with the Smithsonian institute, United States national museum, Washington, and received some interesting information concerning it from W. deC. Ravenel, administrative assistant to the secretary of the museum. This letter fully verifies the capturing of the mammoth fish and designates it "as the large whale shark, the scientific name of which is Rhinodon typicus, which was captured off Knights Key, Florida, in the summer of 1912 by Captain Charles Thompson." The Smithsonian institute letter continues:

"The specimen was identified by our specialists from photographs sent here, but he had no connection, whatever, with the matter except to recommend a private taxidermist of this city as competent to mount it. The museum has received hundreds of inquiries more or less similar to yours concerning the specimen which has been widely exhibited both on the Atlantic coast and in the Mississippi valley.

"The particular specimen to which you refer was the second of its kind to be captured on our eastern coast, although the species is more or less common along the west coast of America from Lower California—where it is known as Tiburon ballenas—southward. In harbors of the Pacific coast of Central America the same animal is known as the 'San Jose Diamond.' It has also been observed and captured in the Indian ocean and various other parts of the Pacific.

"The whale shark, which is sluggish in its habits, is often found basking in shallow waters of the sub-tropical regions, and has been referred to as the 'East Indian Basking Shark.' It is said to be the largest of the sharks, and according to some observers, grows to a length of sixty feet or more. Its teeth are minute, and its food consists of small marine animals of various kind.

"The species was first described by Sir Andrew Smith from a specimen taken from the Cape of Good Hope, 1828."

Who will say that this isn't an absorbingly interesting fish story?

And who will say that the Lord, in His infinite wisdom and power, was not able to "prepare a great fish to swallow up Jonah?"

A STAGGERING TOTAL.

Twenty thousand people ended their lives by their own hands in the United States during 1921, according to a report made public by the Safe-a-Life league. Of these suicides, men numbered approximately two-thirds, according to the figures given out by the league. A startling feature of the report is shown in the increase of the number of children taking their lives. In 1919 there were 477 juvenile suicides, in 1920, 707, and in 1921 there were 858. Among the suicides were 509 war veterans.

Included in the astonishingly long list, all classes of society were represented. There were ten editors, forty students, fifty-one school teachers, twenty-one clergymen, thirty-nine brokers, fifty-seven judges and attorneys, eighty-six physicians, seven mayors, eighty-eight heads of large corporations, seventy-six millionaires, thirty wealthy women, ninety-three bankers, including thirty-seven bank presidents. The oldest suicide was 100 years old and the youngest five years old. Countless reasons were given. One man hanged himself because his wife was "too good" for him, another because his wife was spending all of his money, another because he could not stand the noise of a neighbor's piano and another because his wife refused to kiss him.

Reaction following the World war is blamed for the large number of suicides by the league's report.

Deranged nerves, depression and less self-control have been caused doubtless in a large measure by the growing complexity of our modern life, the unrest, crimes, divorces, questionable dress, unhappy home relations, the decline of religious sentiment and many other things.

LIFE'S VAUDEVILLE.

[By Dr. James Ball Naylor.]

WE'RE ALL PLAGIARISTS.

We're all guilty of plagiarism—more or less.

We appropriate the ideas, ideals, opinions, inventions, utterances or writings of others, without giving due credit.

However, most frequently, we are unconscious plagiarists.

We don't realize that we are purloining the productions of others.

We hear a lecture or speech, we read a story or poem; and some of the forceful, epigrammatic or pleasing expressions remain in our memory.

Gradually, we forget the source of these expressions; as time passes they sink into our sub-consciousness.

Then, some day, an occurrence calls one or more of them to our minds.

We welcome it—as an original thought; as an original expression; as our very own.

And we're not to be blamed.

We're doing just what everybody else is doing.

Thousands of epigrams and bits of verse are in common use today—thousands of old saws and proverbs—whose origin is forever lost.

Let the following instance of the correlation and persistence of poetic imagery illustrate my meaning:

In 1809, Thomas Moore, the Irish poet, wrote the following beautiful verse:

"Like a young eagle, who has lent his plume
To fledge the shaft by which he meets his doom,
Sees their own feathers plucked to wing the dart
Which rank corruption destines for their heart."

Was that apt simile original with Moore?

Well, that same year—or the year before—Byron wrote, in "English Bards and Scotch Reviewers:"

"So the struck eagle stretched upon the plain,
No more through rolling clouds to soar again,
Viewed his own feather on the fatal dart—
And winged the shaft that quivered in his heart."

Did Moore filch the idea from Byron—or did Byron purloin the idea from Moore? Neither plagiarized the work of the other. For they did not become acquainted until 1811. Maybe both conceived the idea from reading what Edmund Waller wrote in 1630. Here it is:

"The eagle's fate and mine are one,
Which on the shaft that made him die,
Espied a feather of his own,
Wherewith he wont to soar so high."

But Aeschylus, the Greek dramatist and poet, penned n 456 B. C.:

"So in the Libyan fable it is told
That once an eagle, striken with a dart,
Said when he saw the fashion of the shaft—
'With our own feathers, not by other's hands,
Are we now smitten.'"

So the idea originally came from musty fable, far before the time of Aeschylus, even. Verily, there is nothing new under the sun!

GOOD-BYE, UNCLE JOE!

Why should I fret—
When I know it's for the best?
Why should I grieve—
When I've earned an honored rest?
Done is my work
'Neath capitol dome.
I hear kind, gentle voices calling:
"Uncle Joe, come home!"

Uncle Joe Cannon is to retire from congress.

For years and years he has been one of the most picturesque figures and virile characters in the public life of America.

Joseph Gurney Cannon was born at Guilford, North Carolina, May 7, 1836.

How far down the track of the lost and gone years that seems?

How much the country has strengthened and improved in Uncle Joe's lifetime!

What wonderful, what marvelous, changes in matters and affairs he has witnessed and noted!

Uncle Joe has no college nor high-school diploma.

But he has a certificate from the school of public service and strenuous endeavor.

And now we're going to present him with a "reward-of-merit" card, bearing the words:

"Well done, good and faithful servant."

Uncle Joe is eighty-six years old.

Forty-six years of that time he has spent in congress.

He has served on some of the most important committees of the body of which he has been a member.

Through four congresses he was speaker of the house.

And he ruled with a rod of iron.

Always he has been Republican; but always he has been an American.

He has made enemies—as does every man who speaks his mind and does his duty as he sees it.

But he has made friends—as does every such man.

And now his public work is about finished—his public life is about over.

He can go back to his home and friends, at Danville, Illinois, and spend his few remaining years in peace and comfort—thinking over the honors that have been his, and the honest and efficient services he has rendered to his government and his people.

Uncle Joe Cannon!

His surname designates his character.

He has been a big gun.

The steel of his being has revealed few flaws.

He has boomed and roared, on many occasions—and emitted smoke and flame.

But he is a carefully rifled piece; and his shots went straight to the target.

And now he is to be dismounted—and gently laid aside.

Good-by, Uncle Joe! Take keer o' y'rse'f!

POSITION OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

On Legislation for Adjusted Compensation for Veterans

IS SET FORTH BY ITS NATIONAL COMMANDER

The Five Choices Offered by Fordney Bill to Veterans of the World War.

Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American legion, has written an open letter to newspaper editors setting forth the position of the American legion on the subject of adjusted compensation to veterans of the World war. His communication is as follows:

The adjusted compensation bill, that has been before congress since March, 1920, offers five choices to the veterans of the World war:

1. Adjusted pay, at the rate of one dollar for every day of home service and $1.25 for every day of foreign service. Maximum payment, $500 for home service and $625 for overseas service. Payment to be made for service in excess of sixty days.

2. Adjusted service certificate in the form of a paid-up twenty-year endowment policy, to the value of 3.33 times the amount that would be received in cash. The face value of the policy would be paid to the veteran at the end of twenty years, or if he dies in the interval, to his beneficiary. Loan values are provided.

3. Vocational training aid of $1.25 a day while taking an educational course. The amount thus paid is not to exceed 140 per cent. the amount due in cash.

4. Farm or home aid, to the extent of 140 per cent. the amount due in cash.

5. Land settlement.

Any man or woman who served in the armed forces of the United States at any time between the dates of April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, is eligible for compensation.

This bill was introduced into the house of representatives by Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan, and into the senate by Senator Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota. It is an adaptation, with few changes, of the bill drafted by legion representatives in March, 1920, at a conference in Washington. The aim of the legion conferees was to make the bill broad enough to give every man the kind of compensation he could use; also to stress other options besides cash, so that the payment of compensation might be as productive as possible for the benefit of the country at large.

The cash feature was provided for the benefit of men who would be unable to avail themselves of any of the other four features. Opponents of the bill have concentrated attack on this feature, forgetting the other four options. But the legion men who presented the bill to congress and members of that body who heard them, were convinced of the unfairness of refusing any compensation to a man simply because he was unable to avail himself of one of the four more productive options.

The insurance feature of the bill originated in the senate and is considered by many to be the most valuable and most likely to appeal to the average veteran. Any man who is not actually in want will make every effort to avail himself of this offer. If he served 100 days in this country and 200 days in France, his cash compensation would be $360. But he could waive cash and get an endowment policy of a value of $1,183.

More than 100,000 disabled men have availed themselves of the vocational training offered y the government, seeing in it a chance to better their condition in life. The educational feature of the compensation bill is expected to appeal to thousands of veterans who are not physically disabled. They will be given tuition at accredited schools and will be paid $1.25 a day while studying, until they have received 140 per cent. of the amount due them in cash. The man who had $350 coming to him in cash could go to school for 392 days, being paid $1.25 a day during that period.

The same man could apply the $490 due him, which is 140 per cent. of the cash $350, toward purchase of an approved farm or city or suburban home. The money also could be applied toward payments on a farm or home already purchased, or to pay for improvements.

If the veteran desires to aid in settling undeveloped lands, the fifth option of the bill will enable him to do so. Provision is made for the establishment of reclamation projects, for the development and improvement of vacant land. This may be government land or land purchased by the government. So far as possible, these projects will be located in every state, the state paying part of the purchase price of privae lands bought for this purpose. Ex-service men are to be employed on the projects as far as possible. The bill also provides for the sale of farm units on these projects when they are ready for settlement, the sale price to include the purchase price of the land, plus the cost of improvements. The terms to be part down and the balance in forty years at five per cent. interest.

The veteran can apply his adjusted service pay as first payment on a farm in such a project.

The value of this option alone to veteran, state and nation, is sufficient to win approval for the entire bill. In the first place, it goes about reclaiming hitherto unproductive farm lands, benefiting individual states and the nation. Then it provides work in the reclamation for jobless men. Again, it attracts to the farm young men who have the pioneer instinct and enables them to become productive citizens, on easy terms. It is the most comprehensive reclamation project yet advanced in the congress and has won the support of numerous factions that are interested in reclamation projects. The reclamation would be under strict supervision and in no sense real estate speculation.

This is the bill the American legion has been backing, but the idea of compensating veterans of the late war did not originate with the legion. The legion was not incorporated until September 16, 1919, and its first national convention held November 10, 11 and 12 of that year, and by that time fifty-five bills already were pending in the house, designated to compensate ex-service men for the economic handicap they had suffered as a result of the service they had rendered their country.

Before the Minneapolis convention a legion committee called upon Mr. Fordney, the chairman of the house ways and means committee, and discussed adjusted compensation. It was the unanimous opinion of legion officials at that time that action should be deferred upon any of the pending fifty-five measures until the ex-service men had had a chance to express themselves on the matter.

The legion has consistently held to the position that the word "bonus" is a misnomer for the bill; that adjusted compensation is something due ex-service men, not as a gratuity for military service rendered, but as an approximate adjustment of the economic losses he sustained by reason of that service. The bill aims to give the soldier, who offered his life with his services, a compensation that will more nearly approach that of the laborer who remained at home, secure from danger, and whose compensation increased from 200 to 300 per cent. and, measured by the amount of labor actually performed, far beyond these figures.

Our late allies recognized the justice of this claim for compensation. Australia, that paid her soldiers forty per cent. more than our men received, paid all veterans $19 to $15 a week until they obtained employment. Canada paid an average of $600 extra compensation to each veteran and $75 a month unemployment pay. England and France paid cash compensation. In all these compensation was paid soon after the men were demobilized. There was no waiting or quibbling. These nations owe money to the United States, a debt of approximately eleven billions of dollars. Our total national debt is about $13,000,000,000; Great Britain's, $39,000,000,000; France's $46,000,000,000.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

AERIAL CARGO SHIPS IS PLAN

Germany To Establish Line with South America.

'VILL SAIL FROM SPAIN AND FLY SPANISH FLAG

Secretary of Spanish Embassy at Washington Aware of Proposal To Link Continents.

Washington, March 16.—A trans-Atlantic air line linking Europe with South America, will be established at an early date as the first trade tenacle of considerable magnitude that post-war Germany is pushing out for South American trade, it was learned at the Spanish embassy here today.

To all intents and purposes the enterprise will be Spanish but no effort is being made to conceal the fact that German trade interests are financing the project.

Aware of Proposal.

Senor Don Eduardo Garcia Comin, secretary of the Spanish embassy in Washington, today stated that although the embassy had not been officially apprised in scope or purpose of the enterprise, that he is nevertheless aware of the proposal to link the continents by air lines and that he is under the impression that German capital is "more or less" involved in the project.

The embassy official revealed that the plans have progressed to the point where the course of the planes has been charted.

Dr. Hugh Eckner, one of the magnates in the German Zeppelin works, is reported to be the moving genius behind the proposal.

All airships for the projected trans-Atlantic air line, it is said, will be constructed on Spanish soil. They will bear Spanish names and fly the Spanish flag.

TWO DROWNED WHEN TOWBOAT CAPSIZES

Man and Woman Go Down with the Steamer.

Cincinnati, March 16.—Two persons drowned and three narrowly escaped death when the towboat Helper, owned by the Campbells Creek Coal company capsized in the Ohio river here today.

The dead were: E. A. Burnside, Point Pleasant, pilot of the vessel.

Mrs. Edna Schellker, Newport, Kentucky, wife of the chief engineer.

Burnside was trapped in the pilot house and Mrs. Schellker was in the kitchen, both being carried under as the ship sunk.

John Wilson, mate; Arthur Schellker, engineer, and Steve Houze, fireman, saved themselves by climbing through windows as the craft went down.

Taxpayers in Rush.

Cleveland, March 16.—Thousands of belated taxpayers crowded the corridors of the federal building yesterday filing returns and seeking last minute information from members of the force of Collector of Internal Revenue Carl F. Routzahn. Changes made in the income tax law increasing exemptions confused many persons and all clerks of the office were busy from an early hour in the morning. The average taxpayer is getting off much more lightly this year than last.

Loses Life on Dare.

Toledo, March 16.—Because Russel Hellon, seventeen-year-old schoolboy, would not take a dare, his body lies at the bottom of the Maumee river today. Companions dared him to paddle to the center of the stream in a canoe. The canoe tipped over, Tommy Eckert, twelve, a playmate, jumped in after Hellon and would also have drowned if others had not thrown logs to him.

Sherman the Only Vocational School.

Washington, March 16.—The house ratified action of the conferees who had reached a compromise which inserts in the bill the language, proposed by the senate, limiting the use of army camps or cantonments as vocational training centers to Camp Sherman, O., and which restores a clause stricken out by the senate providing that no part of the appropriation for vocational training shall be expended for construction work except for necessary "repairs" instead of for necessary "minor repairs," as proposed by the house. As the bill stands no limit is placed on the number of former service men who can be trained at the Ohio camp.

General Squier Enters Suit.

Washington, March 16.—Major General Squier, chief signal officer of the army, announced that he had filed suit in federal court against the American Telephone and Telegraph company, charging infringement of several patents he holds for wireless devices.

Gets Blackhand Threats.

Cincinnati, March 16.—Albert Nesi, tailor, reported to police today the receipt of two letters in which the author threatened to kill him if he failed to pay $500 to him. On the back of the letters he received were pictures of bombs and revolvers. Nesi came to Cincinnati thirteen years ago from Naples.

INVENTS APPARATUS TO REVIVE DEAD

The dead can be brought back to life, asserts Dr. Octavio F. Petroso, Brazilian physician, who has arrived in New York. A blood transfusion apparatus invented by Dr. Petroso, he declares, makes this startling feat possible. Here Dr. Petroso is pictured demonstrating his apparatus. The blood, pumped from dead bodies, is sterilized and treated with a serum. Then it is pumped back into the body, giving renewed life. Dr. Petroso has restored the lives of dead rats, he declares, and will do the same for humans.

GHOST PUZZLE IS CLEARED UP

Girl Is Author of Mysterious Fires.

UNDER INFLUENCE OF DISCARNATE THOUGHT

Not Morally Responsible for Her Strange Acts, Scientist Says. Weird Theory Advanced.

Halifax, N. S., March 16.—Mary Ellen Mac Donald, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mac Donald, was the ghost of Antigonish, Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, scientific ghost hunter, declared in a report on his investigation of the "haunted" Mac-Donald home at Caledonia Mills, made public here.

At least Mary Ellen set the mysterious fires, which were among the chief of the ghostly manifestations, Dr. Prince said. He held that she was not "morally culpable," however, as she was in "an altered state of consciousness" and didn't realize what she was doing.

"There is the possibility, supported by a body of evidence," the report said, "that this altered state was brought about by a discarnate intelligence. This is a theoretical possibility, whereas the external facts seem certain."

Dr. Prince indicated that the braiding of the cows' tails and the shifting of farm stock also probably were a result of Mary Ellen's "altered state of consciousness."

The slaps that Harold Whidden, Halifax Herald reporter, and P. C. Carroll, detective, claimed to have suffered from a ghostly hand after the MacDonalds had been frightened out of their home, however, were not traced to Mary Ellen's hand.

Their experiences, said the report, were "probably of a supernormal character, which does not necessarily imply that the supernormal cause was spiritualistic. It may have been owing to a psycho-physiological cause, which is perfectly natural, though imperfectly normal."

In other words, Dr. Prince implies Whidden and Carroll might have slapped each other—or might merely have thought they were slapped.

Regarding the fires Dr. Prince said: "The fires undoubtedly were set by human hands, judging by the unmistakable signs left in the house. The burns are never found on the wall paper higher than the reach of a person five feet tall, which is the height of the girl in the family."

Akron D. A. R. Meet Opens.

Akron, March 16. — Delegates from seventy-five D. A. R. chapters today endorsed the project of establishing a national military park at Yorktown and named a committee to prevail upon congress to pass the necessary legislation to purchase the revolutionary battlefield for that purpose.

PASHA WORKS TO PACIFY EGYPTIAN NATIVES

The future of the Egyptian Free state, created by removal of the British directorate in Egypt, rests in the hands of Prince Fuad Pasha. Egypt now is on the same basis as Ireland. Prince Pasha is striving to pacify the natives and bring about a settlement of Egyptian affairs so that the British government may feel assured of future quiet in Egypt.

PACT ALLIANCE DECLARES REED

Senator Says Nations Deceive America.

VIOLATE PROMISES, HE TELLS THE SENATE

Relative Strength Misrepresented by Delegates—America Is Put in Inferior Position.

Washington, March 16.—"The senate is asked to commit the American people to an alliance with nations who were convicted of secret acts of betrayal and perfidy, of making secret treaties, of dibiding former German possessions in the Pacific and the Far-East behind our backs," Senator Reed told the senate today.

Reed charged that the relative naval strength of the four powers signatory to the four-power treaty had been "entirely misrepresented" to the senate and to the American people "in order to lull them into a state of false security and lead them into a series of compacts which would give Great Britain and Japan every advantage from a military, naval and strategic standpoint."

Reed has suspended on one side of the senate chamber two huge colored maps showing the former German island possessions in the Pacific which Great Britain and Japan divided, the British taking those south of, and Japan those north of the equator.

Reed declared that both Great Britain and Japan possessed in the thousands of former German islands scattered over the Pacific potential naval and aeroplane bases while the United States agreed to leave unfortified the Philippines and the comparatively few insular possessions she had there.

"Japan could easily fight her ships from her own coast line. It is doubtful if we could successfully attack her, if only because our ships would run out of coal before they could get back to the United States for fresh supplies," Reed said.

"There are those who say the four-power treaty is a mere agreement to talk, that it virtually means nothing," Reed continued.

Says Treaty Binds.

"They tell us that we are bound to do nothing by the treaty. That is the silliest talk that ever fell from the lips of sensible men.

"Let those who support the four-power treaty have the common honesty to tell the senate that it does contain an obligation to do more than talk," Reed said.

"It is dishonest, sickening and disgusting for anybody to attempt to say anything else."

Reed quoted Rene Viviani, one of the French delegates to the armament conference, as having said that the four-power treaty contained a "strong and binding obligation on all the signatory powers."

"Oh, yes, we got rid of the Anglo-Japanese alliance by becoming a party to a new alliance," Reed remarked, amid laughter.

"That is just the same as the case of the lady who got rid of a man by marrying him.

"I favored the calling of a conference for the reduction of armament. I still favor every possible means to halt the lavish expenditure of money in a race for naval armament. I want useless, wasteful expenditure of the people's money stopped. But I believe it can be done without endangering the safety of the American people.

"We know now that the chief purpose of the so-called disarmament conference was not disarmament but the scrapping of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and the substitution for it of a new alliance involving the United States."

Offers States Rights Bill.

Washington, March 16.—A fight to establish the right of states to supreme authority over all commerce within their own borders was opened in the senate today when Senator Ladd, Republican, of North Dakota, introduced a bill known as the States Rights Commerce act. The measure, which would give each state complete authority over intrastate commerce, has the support of the senate "agricultural bloc."

Fatal Shooting Scrape.

Charleston, W. Va., March 16.—Doc Hunley is dead and Charles Gay, wounded, is in jail here as the result of a shooting scrape between the two men at Snowhill yesterday. Gay was arrested this morning shortly after the death of Hunley in a Charleston hospital. The shooting is said to have followed a quarrel between children of the two families.

CLOSET LOCK FAILS TO HOLD BURGLAR

Mansfield, March 16.—Awakened by a noise early last night, Lee Gross found a burglar in his room. When Gross rose up in bed, the burglar sprang into a closet and closed the door. Gross locked the door and then went to the home of a neighbor to get a gun. The burglar broke the lock and followed Gross downstairs, making his escape.

WOMEN WHO SEEK SEAT IN CONGRESS AS OPPONENTS

If "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world," some of the women who own those hands want a more active part in the functioning of the rulers. Here are shown Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer and Mrs. Winfred Mason Huck, who are opposing each other for the seat in congress left vacant by the death of William E. Mason, father of Mrs. Huck. They both reside in Illinois and both are mothers. Mrs. Spencer has two children, Mrs. Huck four.

ERIE RAILROAD PROBE IS ORDERED TODAY

As a Result of Charges of Shop Crafts Head.

Chicago, March 16.—Investigation of the Erie railroad by the United States railway labor board assisted by the department of justice, was ordered today.

At the same time, the labor board ordered the contract case reopened.

Investigatidon of the Erie is the result of charges by B. M. Jewell, president of the Federated Shop Crafts, that some of the roads, including the Erie, have continued to contract out work. Objection has been raised to such contracting during the pendency of the present wage hearing and the decision of the board on the legality of contracting out work. It was contended that the roads are thus evading paying the wage scale set by the board.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Must Die In Chair.

Warren, O., March 16.—John Kovayi, found guilty of the murder of David Gamble, colored, here Sept. 1, 1921, was sentenced by Judge C. M. Wilkin to be electrocuted Sept. 1, 1922, the first anniversary of the crime.

Trains Detoured.

Zanesville O., March 16.—Flood waters of the Muskingum river washed out a railroad trestle about three miles below Malta, Morgan county. Trains on the Ohio and Little Kanawha railway were detoured to Parkersburg, W. Va., and Zanesville.

Bandit Uses Motorcycle.

Cleveland, March 16.—Mrs. Pauline Watson reported to police that while riding on a streetcar a motorcycle drove alongside the car, put his hand through the open window, took a fur neck piece from her shoulder and escaped.

Bank Clerk Found Dead.

Toledo, March 16.—The body of a man who registered at a local hotel under the name of Charles Smith, identified as that of Norman Keil, aged 26, teller at the Second National bank here, was found in a room at the hotel. He had taken poison, it was said. He had been ill.

Philanthropist's Tragic Death.

Toledo, March 16.—Frank Harrison, 55, philanthropist and social worker, was burned to death while making repairs on an automobile in a garage in the rear of his home here. He was trapped under the chasis after leaking gasoline accidentally became ignited and enveloped his clothing with flames.

State Not to Take Part in Fight.

Columbus, March 16.—It is believed that Ohio officially will take little part in the fight against the cement manufacturers indicted in Chicago for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws. Ohio refused to join in the "gentlemen's agreement" boycott decided upon at Chicago some time ago at a meeting of representatives of middle western state highway departments, although the Ohio department had three representatives present. As late as last Monday Governor Davis' cabinet approved of contracts for 12 miles of concrete.

Entertains Visitors.

Mrs. John H. Clark, of Franklin street, entertained at luncheon Wednesday Mrs. W. M. Brackney, of Delaware, Mrs. C. N. Miles, of Bellefontaine, and Mrs. A. Bauer, of Marion, officers of the Delaware district of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church.

Flood Receding.

Cincinnati, March 16. — Flood waters of the Ohio river were receding rapidly this morning and if the present fall continues, the river will be back in its bed within a few hours. Smaller streams are also receding rapidly.

BANDITS GIVE VICTIM TEN DOLLARS FOR "GAS"

Cincinnati, March 16.—As the auto of Shelby Stevens stopped in Clifton early this morning when the gasolene supply ran out, two bandits stopped from the curb and pointed revolvers at Stevens. They searched his pockets taking $195 and checks for $55.

"Have a heart," Stevens appealed to the bandits. "I am out of gas and money too."

"Sure," replied one of the holdup men. "This ought to fill the tank."

Then he handed a ten dollar bill to Stevens.

Both the bandits then hurried away.

Defects in Wrecked Theater.

Washington, [illegible] were twenty-four defects contributing to the collapse of the Knickerbocker theater here on January 28, in which ninety-eight lives were lost, according to a report submitted to the district attorney today by the Washington chapter of the American Association of Engineers. Nine defects in the structure itself and fifteen violations of the building restrictions code were charged.

Authorizes Issue of Stock.

Columbus, March 16.—The state utilities commission has authorized the Ohio Motor Bus company to issue and sell $320,000 preferred stock and $160,000 common stock in connection with plans to operate twenty-seven additional buses. The company proposes operating lines between Columbus and Newark, Zanesville, Marion, Lancaster, Chillicothe and Springfield.

Pan-American Conference Interests Women of Two Continents
Mrs. Richard Edwards of Indiana, First Vice-President of the National League of Women Voters.
Mrs. Charles S. Woodruff of Maryland, Chairman of Convention Committee of the National League of Women Voters.

Women of two continents are planning a "peace-table" all their own. This conference will be a Pan-American gathering and has been called by the National League of Women Voters as an important part of its annual convention which will take place in Baltimore April 20th to 29th.

The object of the gathering is to promote international friendship between the peoples of two continents. At the public meetings will be international speakers including Secretary of State Hughes, Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador, Dr. L. S. Rowe, Director General of the Pan-American Union, and distinguished Latin-Americans. A feature of the program will be round-table meetings of special interest to women—child welfare, educational, women in industry.

STATE OFFICIALS COOPERATE.

Invitations sent through the State Department to Latin-American governments asking that delegates be appointed have met with a cordial response. Besides official government delegates, women's organizations will send representatives, and prominent women from South and Central America, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Porto Rico, the Philippines, Mexico and Canada, will take part in the conference. Mrs. Maud Wood Park, President of the League, has received enthusiastic endorsement of the plan from groups of Latin-American women who have asked for invitations.

"The Conference will be unique," declared Mrs. Richard Edwards, first vice-president of the League, in announcing plans for the gathering. "There have been conferences of men in the past, and conferences of women. There have been Pan-American conferences on trade relations and for scientific discussions. But a Pan-American Conference of women, with no idea of business profit, and called separately from any conference of men, is a new idea.

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDLINESS.

"There are infinite possibilities for international friendliness in such a meeting. Held so soon after the Conference on Limitation of Armaments, it will turn the thoughts of all the Americas toward the idea of closer association between the Pan-American countries, and toward a hitherto undeveloped channel for such association—the friendly interest of like-minded women."

Mrs. Charles S. Woodruff, chairman of the convention committee, reported great enthusiasm in Baltimore in connection with the Pan-American plan. "We find interest on every side," said Mrs. Woodruff. "Men and women citizens of Baltimore are cooperating in every way possible to make the Conference a great international event."

HUGE NUMBER TO GET BONUS

Those Eligible Placed at More Than Four Million.

PREVIOUS BONUS PLANS WOULD PROVE COSTLY

Great Drain on the Treasury Would Be Result, House Committee Declares.

Washington, March 16.—The estimate of those eligible for the bonus is placed by the house committee at 4,458,199.

The service period was from April 6, 1917, to June 30, 1919, a total of 816 days. The estimated average number of days of service for the army was 389, navy 470, marine corps 440.

From each of these totals of days of service is deducted sixty days which were covered in a previous bonus payment. The total number of those who served was 4,650,500 in the army; 551,736 in the navy and 88,101 in the marine corps.

Excluded classes from the bonus total: Army 717,500; navy 107,228; marine corps 7,410.

These estimates leave the number of those entitled to the present bonus: Army 3,933,000; navy 444,508; marine corps 80,891.

The majority of the committee stated that adoption of the cash bonus plan under previous drafts of bonus legislation would have entailed too great a drain upon the treasury without special taxes to raise the funds and that objections to additional taxes could not be overcome.

"It was felt, however," said the committee report, "that the soldiers who were in need should be given an opportunity to obtain aid."

With this idea in view, the committee worked out its plans of the adjusted service certificate which was given a cash loan value in the hands of the soldier.

Will Give Party.

Mrs. E. A. Pellier will give a St. Patrick's party for pupils, parents and friends Saturday, March 18, at Druid's hall. Mrs. Charles Ott and pupils, of Bucyrus, will be guests and will entertain with classic dancing.

GIVES FORTUNE TO FATHER, WHO LOSES

Miss Rosamond Adie gave her personal fortune to her father, Andrew Adie, president and organizer of the $16,000,000 United States Worsted company, when he faced bankruptcy. Her money, with all of her father's holdings, was swept away in the financial crash that overwhelmed him.

HORSE STOPS IF MILK BOTTLE IS ON PORCH

Bowling Green, O., March 16.—H. G. Aldrich, dairyman, has a delivery wagon horse which has learned its route thoroughly, as all milk horses do. But here is wherein the Aldrich steed excels others. Like his owner, he looks on the porches of patrons for bottles. If there is none in sight the horse does not stop, taking it for granted that no business is to be done there that day; but if one is in sight the animal stops and gives an opportunity for its owner to fill the order.

AMERICAN "GOBS" ADOPT FORTY RUSSIAN TOTS

Care for Orphans in the Former Turkish Capital.

Washington, March 16. — Rear Admiral Newton McCully's experiment in adopting seven Russian waifs has been outdone by the crew of the United States destroyer, Childs, now in Turkish waters.

According to information reaching the navy department today, the ship's crew has adopted forty Russian orphans and is caring for them at an establishment which has been set up near Constantinople.

CUT TO THE CORE

American Steamer West Munham, which ran ashore off Heligoland, Germany, last week, while on her way to Russia with a cargo of corn for famine relief, has been refloated.

Police and firemen at Hoboken, N. J., rescued 38 persons, including 15 children, from a burning apartment house, which was destroyed.

Two hundred shop employes of the Erie railroad at Dunmore, near Scranton, Pa., and about 100 at Avoca, Pa., ceased work in protest. It was reported, against the company letting shop work out under the contract system.

Mrs. Park Trammell, wife of the junior United States senator from Florida, died at Orlando, Fla.

"Gold Coast," the home of many of Chicago's wealthiest families, was shaken by a bomb explosion which damaged the home of Alderman Charles J. Agnew.

Searching For Circus Chef.

Riverside, N. J., March 16.—Renewed efforts will be made to locate George Lamb Werner, a circus chef, in connection with the killing of John T. Brunen, circus proprietor, shot to death in his home Friday night. Prosecutor Kelsey said he wished to question Werner, who had been employed by Brunen in the cook tent of the "Mighty Doris and Ferrari Shows," to clear up certain points.

Brakeman Killed.

Columbus, March 16.—Carl J. Kister, 34, was killed and another hurt painfully when a locomotive crashed into a cut of cars in the Grandview yards of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Pimples, blackheads and boils—fresh yeast rids you of them

It is well known that pimples and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.

Fleischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful skin troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.

The surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "I have used yeast extensively and found it invaluable in curing boils." When 17 cases of pimples were treated with Fleischmann's Yeast at hospitals in New York and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. A typical case was a young man who had suffered from pimples for three years. He ate three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily. In five weeks the eruption had cleared completely.

If you are troubled with pimples or boils, begin at once to correct them by eating 3 cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tinfoil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

ERIN GLIMPSES COMING GLORY

St. Patrick'S Day This Year Is Momentous One.

FREEDOM'S SUNBURST ON HILLS ONCE MORE

Irish Leaders Send Messages to America—Destiny in Hands of People.

Dublin, March 16.—St. Patrick's day this year finds Ireland under control of the Irish people for the political views of the Irish people first time in centuries. Though political views of the Irish people differ, there is general rejoicing over the newly-won freedom. The following St. Patrick's day messages to the American people from leaders and representing all shades of public opinion are presented.

Michael Collins, minister of finance in the Irish provisional government:

"This year finds Ireland shaking off the stranglehold of English domination. Hitherto our work was to shake off England's grip. Now our work is to build up the Irish nation. We take up the work with the same zest we had in the former task. It is not less noble nor arduous. The Irish people express to their friends and kinsmen in the United States appreciation for their generous assistance in the past. The friendship between the two countries will continue. Ireland assures the American people that their faith in her will be justified."

Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann and founder of the Sinn Fein:

"Hitherto, the national feast day each succeeding year found Ireland sinking further into ruins. This year, there are signs everywhere of the substantial freedom which Ireland gains under the peace treaty. Henceforth Ireland's destiny is in the hands of the Irish people, who are determined to undo the ruin that has been wrought and build up a free and prosperous Ireland that our friends in the United States may look upon with pride. We are happy to express our appreciation to the American people of their support—of which we never despaired—and on St. Patrick's day, 1922, the hopes of the American people are beginning to be realized."

Countess for Republic.

Countess Markiewicz, supporter of Eamonn de Valera, in his fight against the Irish treaty:

"St. Patrick's day this year finds Ireland facing a situation that will lay every nerve and fiber of those loyal to the republic. An organized army of Irish women have pledged their loyalty to the republic they love. No terrors will daunt them. They stand true to the tri-color and will do so until the republic take her place among the sister nations."

Alice Stoppford, the "great poetess" of the Irish women who supported the treaty.

"There is but one voice in this country this St. Patrick's day. It is praise of the women of Ireland whose patriotic experiences and comradship in war will deeply affect the future life of the Irish nation."

Thomas Johnson, leader of the Irish labor party:

"The St. Patrick's day message from the workers of Ireland to the workers of America must be a plea that you shall demand the release of all Irish political prisoners and particularly the release of James Larkin, who is now serving time in a New York state prison."

Eamonn de Valera refused to make a statement on the ground it might be construed as discourtesy to Griffith.

Glynn Sees Great Progress.

New York, March 16.—Former Governor Martin H. Glynn, who is generally accredited with bringing about the rapproachment between Premier Lloyd George, of England, and Eamonn de Valera, head of the Irish republicans, today gave out the following statement:

"St. Patrick's day this year will be the first in 700 years that sees Ireland ruled by an Irishman. The flag of Ireland floats in the sky, and henceforth no representative of foreign sovereignty, no representative of foreign soldiery will set foot in Ireland without Ireland's consent.

Irish To Rule.

"Irishmen will write Ireland's constitution and from now on a parliament of Irishmen will make Ireland's laws, control Ireland's army, collect Ireland's taxes, impose Ireland's customs, regulate Ireland's coinage and have a voice in the imperial council of the British empire. This is more than O'Connell, Parnell or Butt ever hoped for. The starting of a new government is always harassed by difficulties. Those in America who sneer at the troubles in Ireland today had better turn to their histories and learn of our own difficulties in this country under the confederation, our own difficulties and fights and squabbles and riots over the adoption of the constitution.

"Under the free state, the Irish will work out their salvation and their destiny as gloriously as the people of the colonies worked out their fate under our federal constitution."

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Watch Upon the Beach.

Constance was throbbing with determination and action, as she found her purse and counted the money in it. She never in her life had gone alone upon an extended journey, much less been alone upon a train overnight. If she spoke of such a thing now, she would be prevented; no occasion for it would be recognized; she would not be allowed to go, even if "properly accompanied." She could not, therefore, risk taking a handbag from the house; so she thrust nightdress and toilet articles into her muff and the roomy pocket of her fur coat. She descended to the side door of the house, gained the street and turned westward at the first corner to a street car which would take her to the railway station.

The manner of buying a railway ticket and of engaging a berth were unknown to her—there had been servants always to do these things—but she watched others and did as they did. She procured a telegraph blank and wrote a message to her mother, telling her that she had gone north to join her father. When the train had started, she gave the message to the porter, directing him to send it from the first large town at which they stopped.

Constance could not, as yet, place Henry's part in the strange circumstances which had begun to reveal themselves with Alan's coming to Chicago; but Henry's hope that Uncle Benny and Alan were dead was beginning to make that clearer. She lay without voluntary movement in her berth, but her bosom was shaking with the thoughts which came to her.

Twenty years before, some dreadful event had altered Uncle Benny's life; his wife had known—or had learned—enough of that event so that she had left him. It had seemed to Constance and her father, therefore, that it must have been some intimate and private event.

Uncle Benny had withdrawn himself from men; he had ceased to be active in his business and delegated it to others. This change had been strangely advantageous to Henry. Henry had been hardly more than a common seaman then. He had been a mate—the mate on one of Uncle Benny's ships. Quite suddenly he had become Uncle Benny's partner. Henry had explained this to her by saying that Uncle Benny had not trusted Henry; he had been suspicious of him; he had quarreled with him. How strange, then, that Uncle Benny should have advanced and given way to a man whom he could not trust!

Uncle Benny had come to her and warned her not to marry Henry; then he had sent for Alan. There had been purpose in these acts of Uncle Benny's; had they meant that Uncle Benny had been on the verge of making explanation—that explanation which Henry feared—and that he had been—prevented? Her father had thought this; at least, he had thought that Uncle Benny must have left some explanation in his house. He had told Alan that, and had given Alan the key to the house so that he could find it. Alan had gone to the house—

In the house Alan had found someone who had mistaken him for a ghost, a man who had cried out at sight of him something about a ship—about the Miwaka, the ship of whose loss no one had known anything except by the soundings of the Drum. What had the man been doing in the house? Had he too been looking for the explanation—the explanation that Henry feared? Alan had described the man to her; that description had not had meaning for her before; but now remembering that description she could think of Henry as the only one who could have been in that house! Henry had fought with Alan there! Afterwards, when Alan had been attacked upon the street, had Henry anything to do with that?

Henry had lied to her about being in Duluth the night he had fought with Alan; he had not told her the true cause of his quarrels with Uncle Benny; he had wished her to believe that Uncle Benny was dead when the wedding ring and watch came to her—the watch which had been Captain Stafford's of the Miwaka! Henry had urged her to marry him at once. Was that because he wished the security that her father—and she—must give her husband when they learned the revelation which Alan or Uncle Benny might bring?

At Petoskey she went from the train directly to the telegraph office. If Henry was in Petoskey, they would know at that office where he could be found; he would be keeping in touch with them.

Mr. Spearman, the operator said, had been at the office early in the day; there had been no message for him; he had left instructions that any which came were to be forwarded to him through the men who, under his direction, were patrolling the shore for twenty miles north of Little Traverse, watching for boats.

Constance crossed the frozen edges of the bay by sledge to Harbor Point. Her distrust now had deepened to terrible dread. She had not been able before this to form any definite idea of how Henry could threaten Alan and Uncle Benny; she had imagined only vague interference and obstruction of the search for them; she had not foreseen that he could so readily assume charge of the search and direct, or misdirect, it.

At the Point she discharged the sledge and went on foot to the house of the caretaker who had charge of the Sherrill cottage during the winter. Getting the keys from him, she let herself into the house. Going to her room, she unpacked a heavy sweater and woolen cap and short fur coat—winter things which were left there against use when they opened the house sometimes out of season—and put them on. Then she went down and found her snowshoes. Stopping at the telephone, she called long distance and asked them to locate Mr. Sherrill, if possible, and instruct him to move south along the shore with whomever he had with him. She went out then, and fastened on her snowshoes.

Constance hurried westward and then north, following the bend of the shore. The figure of a man—one of the shore patrols—pacing the ice hummocks of the beach and staring out upon the lake, appeared vaguely in the dusk when she had gone about two miles. She came, three quarters of a mile farther on, to a second man; about an equal distance beyond she found a third, but passed him and went on.

Her legs ached now with the unaccustomed travel upon snowshoes; the cold, which had been only a piercing chill at first, was stopping feeling, almost stopping thought. She was horrified to find that she was growing weak and that her senses were becoming confused. She had come, in all, perhaps eight miles; and she was "playing out." She descended to the beach again and went on; her gaze continued to search the lake, but now, wherever there was a break in the bluffs, she looked toward the shore as well. At the third of these breaks, the yellow glow of a window appeared, marking a house in a hollow between snow-shrouded hills. She turned eagerly that way; she could go only very slowly now. There was no path; at least, if there was, the snow drifts hid it.

She struggled to the door and knocked upon it, and receiving no reply, she beat upon it with both fists.

"Who's here?" she cried. "Who's here?"

The door opened then a very little, and the frightened face of an Indian woman appeared in the crack. The woman evidently had expected—and feared—some arrival, and was reassured when she saw only a girl. She threw the door wider open, and bent to help unfasten Constance's snowshoes; having done that, she led her in and closed the door.

"Where is your man?" Constance had caught the woman's arm.

"They sent him to the beach. A ship has sunk."

"Are there houses near here? You must run to one of them at once. Bring whoever you can get; or if you won't do that, tell me where to go."

The woman stared at her stolidly and moved away. "None near," she said. "Besides, you could not get somebody before some one will come."

"Who is that?"

"He is on the beach—Henry Spearman. He comes here to warm himself. It is nearly time he comes again."

Constance gazed at her; the woman was plainly glad of her coming. Her relief—relief from that fear she had been feeling when she opened the door—was very evident. It was Henry, then, who had frightened her.

The Indian woman set a chair for her beside the stove, and put water in a pan to heat; she shook tea leaves from a box into a bowl and brought a cup.

"How many on that ship?"

"Altogether there were thirty-nine," Constance replied.

"Seven are living then."

"Seven? What have you heard? What makes you think so?"

"That is what the Drum says."

The Drum! There was a Drum then! At least there was some sound which people heard and which they called the Drum. For the woman had heard it.

Constance grew suddenly cold. For twenty lives, the woman said, the Drum had beat; that meant to her, and to Constance too now, that seven were left. Indefinite, desperate denial that all from the ferry must be dead—that denial which had been strengthened by the news that at least one boat had been adrift near Beaver—altered in Constance to conviction of a boat with seven men from the ferry, seven dying, perhaps, but not yet dead. Seven out of twenty-seven; The score were gone; the Drum had beat for them in little groups as they died. When the Drum beat again, would it beat beyond the score?

Having finished the tea, Constance returned to the door and reopened it; the sounds outside were the same. A solitary figure appeared moving along the edge of the ice—the figure of a tall man, walking on snowshoes; moonlight distorted the figure, and it was muffled, too, in a great coat which made it unrecognizable. He halted and stood looking out at the lake and then, with a sudden movement, strode on; he halted again, and now Constance got the knowledge that he was not looking; he was listening as she was.

"Is the Drum sounding now?" she asked the woman.

"No."

Constance gazed again at the man and found his motion quite unmistakable; he was counting—if not counting something that he heard, or thought he heard, he was recounting and reviewing within himself something that he had heard before—some irregular rhythm which had become so much a part of him that it sounded now continually within his own brain; so that, instinctively, he moved in cadence to it. He stepped forward again now, and turned toward the house.

Her breath caught as she spoke to the woman. "Mr. Spearman is coming here now!"

Her impulse was to remain where she was, lest he should think she was afraid of him; but realization came to her that there might be advantage in seeing him before he knew that she was there, so she reclosed the door and drew back into the cabin.

CHAPTER XIX

The Sounding of the Drum.

Noises of the wind and the roaring of the lake made inaudible any sound of his approach to the cabin; she heard his snowshoes, however, scrape the cabin wall as, after taking them off, he leaned them beside the door. He thrust the door open then and came in; he did not see her at first and, as he turned to force the door shut again against the wind she watched him quietly.

He saw her now and started and, as though slight of her confused him, he looked from the woman and then back to Constance before he seemed certain of her.

"Hello!" he said tentatively. "Hello!"

"I'm here, Henry."

"Oh; you are! You are!" He stood drawn up, swaying a little as he stared at her; whisky was upon his breath, and it became evident in the heat of the room; but whisky could not account for this condition she witnessed in him. Neither could it conceal that condition; some turmoil and strain within him made him immune to its effects.

She had realized on her way up here what, vaguely, that strain within him must be. Guilt—guilt of some awful sort connected him, and had connected Uncle Benny, with the Miwaka—the lost ship for which the Drum had beaten the roll of the dead. Guilt was in his thought now—racking, tearing at him. But there was something more than that; what she had seen in him when he first caught sight of her was fear—fear of her, of Constance Sherrill.

"You came up here about Ben Corvel?" he challenged.

"Yes—no!"

"Which do you mean?"

"No."

"I know, then. For him, then—eh! For him?"

"For Alan Conrad? Yes," she said.

"I knew it!" he repeated. "He's been the trouble between you and me all the time!"

She made no denial of that; she had begun to know during the last two days that it was so.

"So you came to find him?" Henry went on.

"He'll be found!" she defied him.

"Be found?"

"Some are dead," she admitted, "but not all. Twenty are dead; but seven are not!"

"Seven?" he echoed. "You say seven are not! How do you know?"

"The Drum has been beating for twenty, but not for more!" Constance said. "The Drum you've been listening to all day upon the beach—the Indian Drum that sounded for the dead of the Miwaka; sounded, one by one, for all who died! But it didn't sound for him! It's been sounding again, you know; but, again, it doesn't sound for him, Henry, not for him!"

"The Miwaka! What do you mean by that? What's that got to do with this?" His swollen face was thrust forward at her; there was threat against her in his tense muscles and his bloodshot eyes.

She did not shrink back from him, or move; and now he was not waiting for her answer. Something—a sound—had caught him about. Once it echoed, low in its reverberation but penetrating and quite distinct. It came, so far as direction could be assigned to it, from the trees toward the shore; but it was like no forest sound. Distinct, too, was it from any noise of the lake. It was like a Drum! Yet, when the echo had gone, it was a sensation easy to deny—a hallucination, that was all. But now, low and distinct it came again; and, as before, Constance saw it catch Henry and hold him. His lips moved, but he did not speak; he was counting. "Two," she saw his lips form.

The sound of the Drum was continuing, the beats a few seconds apart. "Twelve," Constance counted to herself. The beats had seemed to be quite measured and regular at first; but now Constance knew that this was only roughly true; they beat rather in rhythm than at regular intervals. "Twenty—twenty-one — twenty-two!" Constance caught breath and waited for the next beat; the time of the interval between the measures of the rhythm passed, and still only the whistle of the wind and the undertone of water sounded. The Drum had beaten its roll and, for the moment, was done.

Twenty-two had been her count, as nearly as she could count at all; the reckoning agreed with what the Indian woman had heard. Two had died, then, since the Drum last had beat, when its roll was twenty. Two more than before; that meant five were left!

Constance caught up her wooden hood from the table and put it on. Her action seemed to call Henry to himself.

"What are you going to do?" he demanded.

"I'm going out."

He moved between her and the door. "Not alone, you're not!" His heavy voice had a deep tone of menace in it; he seemed to consider and decide something about her. "There's a farmhouse about a mile back; I'm going to take you over there and leave you with those people."

"I will not go there!"

He swore. "I'll carry you, then!"

She shrank back from him as he lurched toward her with hands outstretched to seize her; he followed her, and she avoided him again; if his guilt and terror had given her mental ascendency over him, his physical strength could still force her to his will and, realizing the impossibility of evading him or overcoming him, she stopped.

"Not that!" she cried. "Don't touch me!"

"Come with me, then!" he commanded; and he went to the door and laid his snowshoes on the snow and stepped into them, stooping and tightening the straps; he stood by while she put on hers. He did not attempt again to put hands upon her as they moved away from the little cabin toward the woods back of the clearing; but went ahead, breaking the trail for her with his snowshoes. He moved forward slowly; he could travel, if he had wished, three feet to every two that she could cover, but he seemed not wishing for speed but rather for delay. A deep, dull resonance was booming above the wood; it boomed again and ran into a rhythm. No longer was it above; at least it was not only above; it was all about them—here, there, to right and to left, before, behind—the booming of the Drum. Doom was the substance of that sound of the Drum beating the roll of the dead.

Henry had stopped in front of her, half turned her way; his body swayed and bent to the booming of the Drum, as his swollen lips counted its soundings. She could see him plainly in the moonlight, yet she drew nearer to him as she followed his count. "Twenty-one," he counted—"Twenty-two!" The drum was still going on. "Twenty-four—twenty-five—twenty-six!" Would he count another?

He did not; and her pulses, which had halted, leaped with relief. He moved on again, descending the steep side of a little ravine, and she followed. One of his snowshoes caught in a protruding root and, instead of slowing to free it with care, he pulled it violently out, and she heard the dry, seasoned wood crack. He looked down, swore; saw that the wood was not broken through and went on; but as he reached the bottom of the slope, she leaped downward from a little height behind him and crashed down upon his trailing snowshoe just behind the heel. The resulting snap of the wood came beneath her feet. Had she broken through his shoe or snapped her own? She sprang back, as he cried out and swung in an attempt to grasp her; he lunged to follow her, and she ran a few steps away and stopped. At his next step his foot entangled in the mesh of the broken snowshoe, and he stooped, cursing, to strip it off and hurl it from him; then he tore off the one from the other foot, and threw it away, and lurched after her again; but now he sank above his knees and floundered in the snow. She stood for a moment while the half-mad, half-drunken figure struggled toward her along the side of the ravine; then she ran to where the tree trunks hid her from him. He gained the top of the slope and turned in the direction she had gone; assured then, apparently, that she had flown in fear of him, he started back more swiftly toward the beach. She followed, keeping out of his sight among the trees.

To twenty-six, he had counted—to twenty-six, each time! That told that he knew one was living among those who had been upon the ferry! What one? It could only be one of two to dismay him so; there had been only two on the ferry whose rescue he had feared; only two who, living, he would have let lie upon this beach which he had chosen and set aside for his patrol, while he waited for him to die!

She forced herself on, unsparingly, as she saw Henry gain the shore and as, believing himself alone, he hurried northward. She could not rest; she could not let herself be exhausted. Merciless minute after minute she raced him thus—A dark shape—a figure lay stretched upon the ice ahead. Beyond and still farther out, something which seemed the fragments of a lifeboat tossed up and down where the waves thundered and gleamed at the edge of the floe.

Henry's pace quickened; hers quickened desperately, too. She left the shelter of the trees and scrambled down the steep pitch of the bluff, shouting, crying aloud. Henry turned about and saw her; he halted, and she passed him with a rush and got between him and the form upon the ice, before she turned and faced him.

Defeat—defeat of whatever purpose he had had—was his now that she was there to witness what he might do; and in his realization of that, he burst out in oaths against her—He advanced; she stood, confronting—he swayed slightly in his walk and swung past her and away; he went past those things on the beach and kept on along the ice hummocks toward the north.

She ran to the huddled figure of the man in mackinaw and cap; his face was hidden partly by the position in which he lay and partly by the drifting snow; but, before she swept the snow away and turned him to her, she knew that he was Alan.

She cried to him and, when he did not answer, she shook him to get him awake; but she could not rouse him. Praying in wild whispers to herself, she opened his jacket and felt within his clothes; he was warm—at least he was not frozen within! No; and there seemed some life of his heart! She tried to lift him, to carry him; then to drag him. But she could not; he fell from her arms into the snow again, and she sat down, pulling him upon her lap and clasping him to her.

She must have slid, she must get him to some house, she must take him out of the terrible cold; but dared she leave him? Might Henry return, if she went away? She arose and looked about. Far up the shore she saw his figure rising and falling with his flight over the rough ice. A sound came to her, too, the low, deep reverberation of the Drum beating once more along the shore and in the woods and out upon the lake; and it seemed to her that Henry's figure, in the stumbling steps of his flight, was keeping time to the wild rhythm of that sound. And she stooped to Alan and covered him with her coat, before leaving him; for she feared no longer Henry's return.

GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND PEETIE'S GOOD TURN.

[BY HOWARD R. GARIS.]

[Copyright 1922, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the road one morning, going to the store for Nurse Jane, his muskrat lady housekeeper. The bunny gentleman carried his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, because he had a twinge of pain now and then. All of a sudden as he was skipping over a stone in his way, the crutch slipped and fell.

Before Uncle Wiggily could pick it up Johnnie Bushytail, one of the squirrel boys, scrabbled along, picked up the crutch, handed it to Uncle Wiggily and hopped away again, chattering:

"I did mine! I did mine!"

"Did your what, Johnnie?" asked the bunny gentleman. "Stop a moment and let me thank you."

"I can't! I'm in a hurry to get to the hollow stump school!" laughed the squirrel boy. "But I did mine all right!"

"Did your what?" asked Uncle Wiggily, much puzzled.

The doggie boy threw his spelling book

"I did my good turn," explained Johnnie. "You see, all of us animal children are boy and girl scouts now. We must each do at least one good turn a day, and I did mine when I picked up your rheumatism crutch."

"Indeed, that was a good turn, and I thank you for it!" said Uncle Wiggily. And then, as Johnnie scampered along to school, the bunny thought how fine it was of the boy and girl animals to try to be kind. All of a sudden there came a puff of wind, which blew the bunny's hat off his head.

"Whoa there! Come back if you please!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"I'll get it for you! Please let me get it!" cried Billie Wagtail, the goat boy, coming along just then. Billie ran after the bunnie's hat, caught it on one of his horns, and very politely handed it back.

"There. I've done mine!" bleated Billie.

"I suppose you mean your good turn for the day," chuckled Mr. Longears.

"Yes," said Billie. "But I'll do more good turns if I can. Do you want me to help you along the road?"

"Oh, no, thank you, Billie, and also thank you for bringing back my hat," said Uncle Wiggily. "I can get along very nicely since Johnnie picked up my crutch as his good turn."

Billie hurried off to school, and Uncle Wiggily was hopping slowly along when, all at once, he heard a fast running sound behind him.

"Dear me!" I hope that isn't the Woozie Wolf!" thought the bunny, and he looked for a place to hide. But he need not have been afraid for it was only Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" barked Peetie, as he ran up. "Do you know a good turn I could do? Nearly all the other animal boys and girls have done some good turn today, and I can't find a thing to do! And we are going to have a chance in school this morning to tell the lady mouse teacher what good things we did."

"And haven't you done any?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know.

"No, not one!" sighed Peetie with a sigh. "I started to bring up some coal for my mother, but my brother Jackie got ahead of me. I started to pick up Lulu Wibblewobble's books that she dropped, but Neddie Stubtail, the bear, reached them first. Then I was going to help Aunt Lettie, the goat lady, across a slippery place, but Uncle Booster, the woodchuck, helped her instead. I can't seem to do any good turn at all."

"Well, don't worry, Peetie!" said Uncle Wiggily. "You walk along with me and perhaps you'll see something to do to earn your good marks."

"Oh, thank you!" barked Peetie. So he and Uncle Wiggily went along together, but no chance to do good turns seemed to come to the doggie boy. Of course Uncle Wiggily could have made believe slip, or drop his glasses or lose his rheumatism crutch, and have let Peetie save him from falling, or pick up the things that fell, but that would not have been fair.

Uncle Wiggily was wondering and wondering how he could help Peetie do a good turn, and they were nearly at the hollow stump school, when, all of a sudden, out from the bushes jumped the Fuzzy Fox.

"Now, I'm going to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears!" howled the Fox.

"If you do that it would be a bad turn, and to stop you I must do a good turn!" barked Peetie. "There! Take that!" The doggie boy swiftly threw his spelling book, just filled with very hard words. The spelling book and some of the hard words hit the Fox on the nose.

"Oh, wow! Oh, wow!" howled the chap. "What do you call that?"

"I call it my good turn!" laughed Peetie, as he picked up his spelling book when the Fox ran away.

"Yes, it certainly was a good turn!" chuckled the bunny, "and I'll go in the school and tell the lady mouse teacher about it." And all the animal boys and girls, each one of whom had done a good turn, said Peetie was very brave as well as good.

WHY A NATION FAILED

The International Sunday-School Lesson for March 19 Is, "The Downfall of Israel."—II Kings 17:1-18.

[BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.]

Several years ago, in the remote and romantic city of Bagdad, which is to modern Mesopotamia what Babylon was of old, I asked the grand rabbi and his venerable associates what they thought had become of the lost ten tribes of Israel, who disappear from history in the present Sunday-school lesson. Thereupon followed much conferring and shaking of heads and stroking of long white beards, after which the grand rabbi assured me that all of his fellow rabbis present concurred in the judgment that the ten tribes never were lost; that the children of those carried off from Israel still remain dispersed throughout Mesopotamia and Persia.

This answer not only confirmed my own observation of the many communities of Jews in abject poverty scattered over the region which used to be Assyria, but it also singularly supported the words of our lesson, "So Israel was carried away out of their own land to Assyria unto this day."

A generation ago any consideration of this bit of Bible history would have been devoted to a protracted and speculative discussion of the fate of the "lost ten tribes." Nowadays, it primarily arouses a solicitude for the welfare of the remnant of the Jews, and a comparison of old Israel's fate with present world conditions; as well as a study of national problems and destiny. This lesson finds its million of students thinking in world terms.

Squaring Today with Yesterday.

An uncanny similarity exists between present conditions in Bible lands and those which accompanied the collapse of the kingdom of Israel, when the Assyrians conquered the land and carried many of its inhabitants into captivity. Even vast deportations are again under way. Once more the great powers are contending for that strategic strip of territory called the Holy Land, and the two greatest European nations almost came to war over it.

Once again there is a convergence of both assimilative and disruptive forces there. The springs of revolt against suzerian powers are bubbling anew. Pan-Islamism is at war with Zionism, and nationalism contends with European imperialism. The drift of power toward the East is as marked as ever. In a curious reversal of conditions, the remnant of the ancient Assyrians, now a Christian people, are in exile and suffering, and crying to America as their only hope. Truly, this is a lesson to be studied with a Bible under one hand and a newspaper under the other.

In a Wireless World.

It is easier today to study this lesson of Israel's collapse than it was a decade ago, for we have grown accustomed to thinking in larger units. Even the average person now is accustomed to speak in national and international terms. Great forces have operated of late to enlarge our horizon—the war and the returned soldiers; the discussion of the league of nations; the universal economic depression; new conceptions of transportation by land and sea and air, the Washington conference; the reading of such comprehensive books as Wells' "Outline of History;" the new social movements;—these modern forces that are lifting mankind out of life's littleness, suggests Tennyson's

"So the whole round world is bound
In every way
By gold chains about the feet of God."

In recent months the magnitude and meaning of wireless telephony has begun to dawn upon people's minds, and manufacturers are unable to produce radiophones fast enough. There are no ends to God's lanes. A new era of internationalism has dawned, when a boy with an amateur wireless outfit in Brooklyn can be heard by another amateur in Scotland. Gone is the ancient loneliness and isolation: the Arctic explorer and the remote rancher may now keep in daily touch with the life of the world, hearing not only news, but also the varied forms of entertainment.

It almost seems as if God had suddenly become in a hurry to force closer relationship and kindred interests and a common speech upon mankind. The present-day prophet of truth has such agencies for broadcasting the message for the hour as never were within the imagination of Elijah or Amos or the Apostle Paul. If enlarged opportunity means increased responsibility, some of us have a heavy obligation to meet in the recent emergency.

Amid all these amazing changes of our era one factor abides changeless—the moral character of men and nations as a paramount consideration. It is as true today for America as it was twenty-five hundred years ago for old Israel, that "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." Nations rise and fall, according as they are true or false to the great religious ideal. Many countries have gone the way of Israel, and for the same reason. He is an unobservant reader of history who does not discern the clear connection between a nation's morality and its felicity, and between its righteousness and its continuance.

What Our Generation Has Seen.

Everybody who reads this lesson has seen great nations collapse within the past eight years. What is more, every thoughtful person may put his finger upon the nations that have fallen and say, "This nation by its conduct repudiated God and His laws. Now His clear judgment has overtaken it. It has gone the way of Israel and for substantially the same reason." Recent history is the best of commentaries upon the downfall of the northern kingdom of the chosen people.

Success for a nation as for an individual, comes by loyalty to the highest conceptions of character. Israel knew the better and did the worse—and that is forever the most tragic of failures. Before it lost its territory, Israel lost its soul.

Long and black, the shadow of a false leader lay upon broken Israel's ruins—that of Jeroboam, "who made Israel to sin." He compromised his country's character in the beginning, and it never got right. From its place as Jehovah's peculiar people, he led it into the procession of worldly ways, so that the Jews worshipped idols, like the surrounding heathen.

OBITUARY

Twigg, Mabel Emma, daughter of William S. and Phoebe Jane Twigg, was born August 31, 1885, in Amanda township, Fairfield county, Ohio. On September 16, the same year, she was consecrated to her God in holy baptism, the saluted Rev. O. S. Orlesby, officiating. After being duly instructed in the saving doctrines of God's word, she was on July 27, 1901, confirmed in the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church at Marcy, Ohio, by Rev. M. F. Lauffer. In the communion of the Lutheran church she remained faithful unto death.

When still a very small child, she removed with her parents to Pickaway county, where she resided for twenty-two years. Her elementary education she received in the rural schools of Pickaway county. Her normal training she received in the Ohio Northern university at Ada. Her services as a public school teacher extended over a period of seventeen years. Two years she taught in the rural schools of Pickaway county, seven years in the village schools of Ridgeway, Ohio, three years at Prospect, Ohio, and the last five years of her life in the Grand Prairie centralized school of this county.

In 1912 she removed with her mother and two brothers to this city and remained a resident of Marion to the time of her death. At that time she also became a member of the Emanuel Lutheran congregation, and immediately became an active member. Throughout all these ten years, she has been a faithful and efficient member of the choir. The Luther league always enjoyed the benefit of her services. For a number of years she has been a faithful and reliable Sunday-school teacher. The active part she has taken in Sunday-school conventions has been a credit to herself and to her Sunday-school. She was a true Lutheran where ever she happened to be and always used her influence to uphold the conservative position of her church. Her confession of faith was carried out in a consistent life of godliness and service.

Her associates in the public school work bear her testimony with regard to her ability and faithfulness in her daily duties and the members of her family testify that she was always loving and dutiful toward them.

Her active life of service came to a very sudden and sad end on the morning of March 3, at about 7:30 o'clock, when a fatal accident caused her almost instantaneous death. She attained the age of thirty-six years, six months and three days. She leaves to mourn her untimely death, her mother, Mrs. Phoebe Twigg, her two brothers, Delmar and Ralph Twigg, all of this city, besides these, she leaves her bereaved school, her church and Sunday-school class and a host of loving and sympathizing friends.

No time for a last farewell,
No time for the shock of fear,
Scarcely a moment's halt on the shore,
With the guide and the boatman near.
How surprised you must have been to go,
With little to suffer, little to know,
Only a moment of dark,
A dream of fleeting night,
And then the beautiful break of day,
And the quiet peace of light.
And you found yourself where you longed to stand,
In the repose of fatherland.

The funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon, March 5, 1922, at 2 o'clock in the Evangelical Lutheran Emanuel's church. The large auditorium of the Emanuel's church was filled to overflowing. The large attendance at the funeral service and the many beautiful floral tributes were an expression of the high esteem and the love in which Miss Twigg was held by her many friends and associates.

The funeral address, delivered by Rev. J. W. Schillinger, was based on the words of Jesus in Matthew, 14:27, "Be of good cheer, it is I; be not afraid." Mrs. George Turner rendered a very beautiful soprano solo. Several selections were rendered by a ladies' chorus of Emanuel's congregation. Interment was made in the Marion cemetery.

Leach — Mrs. Effie Elizabeth, daughter of John J. and Sarah J. Davis, was born in Green Camp township December 3, 1849, and departed this life at the home of one of her children, Mrs. A. F. Bricker, of Big Island township, February 28, 1922. At the time of her homegoing, she was seventy-two years, two months and twenty-five days of age.

She was the youngest of a family of three children. One of these, Samuel C. Davis, preceded her to the life beyond. On December 3, 1865, she was united in marriage with Edward D. Leach. To them were born three children, John Edward, who died at the age of thirteen months; W. B. Leach, of Green Camp, and Mrs. A. F. Bricker, of Big Island township. Her husband came to the end of his earthly journey on September 28, 1916. Mrs. Leach leaves to mourn their loss, the two children, W. B. Leach and Mrs. A. F. Bricker, and two grandchildren, Coe E. and Effie Jane Leach, one brother, I. N. Davis, of Green Camp, and many other friends and relatives who shall greatly miss her whom they have truly loved and lost a little while.

At the age of sixteen Mrs. Leach dedicated her life to Him who loved her and gave Himself for her and united with the Methodist Episcopal church of Green Camp, of which she remained a member to the time of her going to join the church triumphant. About seven weeks ago, at her home in Green Camp, she was stricken with grip which afterwards developed into pneumonia. She was taken to the home of the daughter in Big Island township, January 22, 1922. Everything was done for her that love could do but the race had been run and the victory was won and God said "Come." During the weeks of suffering she was a beautiful illustration of Christian suffering, ever thinking more of the welfare of others about her and forgetting herself in her interest in them. She often expressed a desire to quit this life of weariness and toil, and go to be with Him who said, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

"She resteth now. No more her breast
Heaves with its weary breath;
Pain sits no longer on the brow
Where lies the calm of death.
Sunk to her rest like a weary child,
She lies in slumber deep,
Soft folded in the arms of Him
Who 'giveth His beloved sleep.'

"Nay, doth she rest? No day nor night
She resteth not from praise;
Her spirit, winged with rapture knows
No more earth's weary ways;
But ever toward the Infinite
Her flight on, upward, does she keep,
For He gives active fleetlessness
Who 'giveth His beloved sleep.'"

Clapper, Mrs. Martha Osbun, was born in Hardin county, Ohio, September 19, 1851. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Osbun. At the age of twenty she was married to Harry W. Clapper. They were the parents of four children. At the age of sixteen, she joined the Zion M. E. church and lived her life doing God's work as she saw it, until her death which occurred March 1, 1922.

Her happy married life lasted but a short time. At the age of thirty she became a widow. It seemed that God willed sorrow to be her lot as her mother was taken six months later. All of the sorrows seemed to bring out the more noble qualities of her life. Along with the care of her own children, she had the care of her motherless brothers and sisters upon her shoulders. She was ever ready to help others and a real mother to those in need.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Louella Luft, of Marion; Mrs. B. B. Porter, of Troup, Texas, and one son, N. J. Clapper, of Mt. Gilead, Ohio. She is also survived by four brothers, Albert Osbun, of Green Camp, Ohio; N. J. Osbun, of Kenton, Ohio; Harry J. Osbun, of Dayton; and L. E. Osbun, of Miami, Florida, and two sisters, Mrs. Lucinda Ferguson, of Mogral, Ohio, and Mrs. Anna Shirkey, of Cathage, Missouri.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole.

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia all start with a cold. At the first sign of fever, the moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that goes right after congestion—which is what a cold really is—and restores normal circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the unpleasant sting and blister.

During the big "Flu" epidemic several years ago Musterole was used in our training camps. The Y. M. C. A. War Board sent thousands of jars to our boys in France. Doctors have been recommending it to their patients for years.

Just rub it on the congested parts with your finger tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

If there are colds in your house get Musterole on the job at once. It may prevent serious illness. It is a good plan to have Musterole always on the bathroom shelf for the emergency.

Sold by all druggists, 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes; hospital size $3.00.—Adv.

How it makes it glossy, how it makes it soft, how it makes it beautifully fluffy—

—without a trace of the harshness, dryness and injurious brittleness which usually follows shampooings.

This 15-cent trial bottle contains a generous quantity — enough to shampoo luxuriously the heaviest hair. Present it at once — this is a one-week offer. If your regular dealer can't supply you call on another.

Palm and Olive Oils

The softening effects of olive oil are responsible for gloss and softness. It produces a mild penetrating lather which softens and relaxes the scalp and enters roots and hair cells.

The accumulation of dirt and oil is thoroughly dissolved. Dandruff is penetrated and removed.

Palm oil contributes richness and body to this lather and makes it lasting. Both oils have been famous since Cleopatra's day for their softening, relaxing qualities which no others possess.

Combats dandruff

Dandruff, which doctors call seborrhea and say causes most hair troubles, is not removed by most shampoos.

The dry, oily scales are impervious to usual cleansing. If only makes them more powdery and flaky.

But they must be got rid of some way or you may lose your hair. Dandruff packs around the roots and interferes with nutrition. This makes even the normal secretion found on every scalp dangerous to hair health.

The softening, penetrating lather produced by the combination of palm and olive oils loosens the scales and dislodges them from the scalp. The delicate organism of each hair is free for healthy activity.

Present the coupon at once for the free 15-cent trial bottle, for one shampoo will prove that all we say is true. You will never be satisfied with other ways of shampooing once you learn what Palmolive will do.
